The Landing of the Troops Was Remarkably Successful—General Wheeler Reported That Negro Boys Coming From Santiago Said Spanish Soldiers and Citizens Were Very Short of Food. The General Says Three Spanish Generals Took Part In Fight at Sevilla. Five Wagon Loads of Wounded Were Taken Into Santiago and Many Others Wounded Got There on Horses or Afoot—Shafter Well Satisfied.

HEADQUARTERS OF GENERAL CHAFFEE, TWO MILES BEYOND SEVILLA, June 26, by Dispatch boat via Port Antonio, Jamaica, June 27.—The American troops are now within four miles of Santiago de Cuba. Two brigades of Brigadier General Lawton's division, in command of General Chaffee and Colonel R. H. Hall, of the Second Massachusetts Volunteers, last night and to-day moved forward past the village of Sevilla, where the Spaniards were expected to make a stand, and occupied the hills to the right and left.

Two miles beyond, far out in front of the American forces and occupying the roads leading to Santiago, is a force of 1,500 Cubans under General Carlos Gonzales. The entire Cuban army, under direction of General Calixto Garcia, is massing for a co-operative attack on Santiago.

ON BOARD THE DISPATCH BOAT DANDY, OFF JUNAGUA, June 25, via Kingston, June 27.—Troops of the United States and Spain are less than four miles apart.

Tonight the picket lines at certain points are within hailing distance of the enemy. It seems certain that the battle of Santiago must come within a week.

The troops are all ashore here and at Baiquiri, with the exception of a few scattered companies that have gone forward. The supplies are sufficient to enable the army to sustain a week's campaign at both landing points.

There is a continual procession of small boats riding onto the beach through the pounding surf, and as one week's rations are already landed, it is believed the required supplies will all be ashore by Tuesday, the 28th.

The landing of troops, horses and supplies has been extraordinary. With only one steam barge, and compelled to depend on treacherous small boats, General Shafter has landed over 16,000 men, hundreds of horses and mules and thousands of dollars worth of supplies on the exposed beaches and only two men have lost their lives. No more than 50 animals have been drowned and scarcely a package of supplies lost.

The officers generally are surprised at the small loss of life and property. General Shafter said to a correspondent today:

"I am well satisfied with the progress that is being made. The disembarkation is slow, but considering the limited facilities and the exposed nature of the landing places, the men have done well. I only await the landing of sufficient supplies to begin the movement on Santiago. I am unable to say when it will take place. I am much pleased at the gallant conduct of our men in the action at Seville yesterday and with their cool and veteran-like work. The victory was complete."

General Wheeler, in his official report, places the number of dead in the engagement at Seville as 22 and the wounded at between 70 and 80. No attempt has yet been made to prepare an official list with the names of the dead and wounded. The high grass and bushes of the battleground make it difficult to find the bodies, but an official list will probably be prepared by Monday.

The bodies of 39 Spaniards have been found and the Spanish loss in killed and wounded was doubtless much heavier than the American.

The majority of the American troops are now here or at the front in the vicinity of Seville. The force at the latter place, which is about nine miles from Santiago, numbers 6,000 Americans and 1,500 Cubans. General Wheeler is in command there, with Generals Young, Lawton and Chaffee. General Wheeler will remain at Seville, which will be made a rendezvous for the troops landing at Baiquiri and at this point, the artillery and cavalry being put forward from Baiquiri. The cavalry have been sent ahead to cut a wagon road through the underbrush.

From the American position at Seville, Santiago is plainly visible and the fortifications can be seen. The following reports to General Shafter from generals at the front show the conditions:

To General Shafter:
"I have just seen two negro boys who left Santiago this morning (Saturday). They report that the soldiers and citizens are very short of food. The soldiers and officers have seized all the food in the shops. They are killing young horses for food, and in the hospitals are subsisting on bread made of rice flour.

"Three Spanish generals took part in the fight at Sevilla yesterday. Five wagon loads of wounded were carried into Santiago, and many others wounded got there on horses or afoot. We can see Morro castle and the flag very distinctly from our position. The Cubans confirm the reports as to the fine character of the fortifications around the city. Seven lines of barbed wire are stretched around the trenches. The Spaniards have recently dug deep trenches around the entire city, connecting a series of small forts.

"WHEELER." (Dated Saturday afternoon.)

To General Shafter:
"We can plainly see Santiago, less than seven miles away. The country is level for six miles this side of the city, except for hills on the south, which extend to within a mile of Santiago. These hills appear deserted. The country is fairly open, and it will not be difficult to move troops over it. General Chaffee occupies Sevilla today.

"YOUNG." (Dated Saturday evening.)

ROUGH RIDERS TRAPPED.

Roosevelt and the Men Rode Into a Finely Prepared Ambuscade—Known Dead, Wounded and Missing.

JURAGUA, Cuba, June 25, per Dispatch Boat Dandy, via Kingston, Jamaica, June 27.—The initial fight of Colonel Wood's rough riders, and the troopers of the First and Tenth cavalry, an account of which has appeared in these dispatches, will be known in history as the battle of La Quasina. That it did not end in the complete slaughter of the Americans was not due to any miscalculation in the plan of the Spaniards, for as perfect an ambuscade as was ever formed in the brain of an Apache Indian was prepared, and Lieutenant Colonel Roosevelt and his men walked squarely into it. For an hour and a half they held their ground under a perfect storm of bullets from the front and sides, and then Colonel Wood at the right and Lieutenant Colonel Roosevelt at the left led a charge which turned the tide of battle and sent the enemy flying over the hills toward Santiago.

It is now definitely known that 16 men on the American side were killed, while 60 were wounded or are reported to be missing. It is impossible to calculate the Spanish losses, but it is known that they were far heavier than those of the Americans, at least as regards actual loss of life. Already 87 dead Spanish soldiers have been found and buried, while many others undoubtedly are lying in the thick underbrush on the side of the gulley, and on the slope of the hill, where the main body of the enemy was located. The wounded were all removed.

GUFFEY IS FOR JENKS.

Withdrew as Candidate For Democratic Gubernatorial Nomination In Pennsylvania.

PITTSBURG, June 27.—James M. Guffey has quit the gubernatorial race. In a speech to the Allegheny county delegates to the state convention Saturday afternoon Mr. Guffey formally announced his withdrawal, counseled against the nomination of Judge James Gay Gordon, and warmly indored George A. Jenks, who, through Mr. Guffey's influence, will undoubtedly be nominated at Wednesday's convention. It was a complete clearing away of the political clouds, and leaves the situation under bright light. General A. H. Crook of Somerset county, while in the city yesterday, also withdrew from the contest, and he and his followers will be found with the Guffey following at the convention.

This further cleared the atmosphere, and leaves George A. Jenks, with Mr. Guffey and the Democratic forces supporting him, and Judge Gordon, and the anti-Quay Republican leaders of Philadelphia supporting him, in the contest for first honors at the convention. The delegates from this county unanimously and with cheers indored George A. Jenks for governor and pledged him their support in the convention.

[From a Spanish Correspondent.]

HAVANA, June 27.—The people of Havana are getting accustomed to the blockade and the incidents of war times. Their courage is returning and they are once more resuming attendance upon religious services and participating in their customary amusements. The churches, theaters, parks and the bay are literally crowded. The ladies have chosen San Lazaro avenue as the fashionable promenade and drive. From that thoroughfare they can watch the movements of the blockading ships with glasses and many a light jest falls from beautiful lips. Equestrians accompany the carriages, and the military element, high in the favor of Cuban women, is conspicuously in evidence.

Official accounts say the American forces, supported by artillery, attacked the Spanish near Santiago de Cuba on the morning of the 23d, but were repelled with loss. The Spanish losses on the 23d and 24th were one officer and eight soldiers killed and three officers and 24 soldiers wounded. The Americans in the combat of the 24th (Friday) alone had 12 killed, among these a captain, and 50 wounded.

On Friday morning, at Baiquiri, the Americans in considerable force, supported by artillery, renewed the attack. Among the attacking forces were insurgent bands shouting "Cuba libre." In the two engagements the Americans alone sustained no fewer than 80 lost, killed and wounded.

Wounded.

PORT SAID, June 27.—Admiral Camara's squadron was in the harbor yesterday awaiting orders. It consists of the battleship Pelayo, Admiral Camara's flagship, the ironclad Emperador Carlos Quintos, two armored cruisers, three torpedo-boats and five transports carrying 4,000 troops.

LONDON, June 27.—Lloyd's agent at Port Said telegraphs that the squadron consists of the battleship Pelayo, the armored cruiser Emperador Carlos Quintos, the torpedo-boat destroyers Ossada, Andaz and Proserpine, the transports Patriota and Bueno Ayres and the Isla de Panay, Colon, Covadonga, Rapida and San Francisco.

MADRID, June 27.—The arrival of the Spanish fleet at Port Said caused no surprise here, Admiral Camara having announced that he was going to the Philippines.

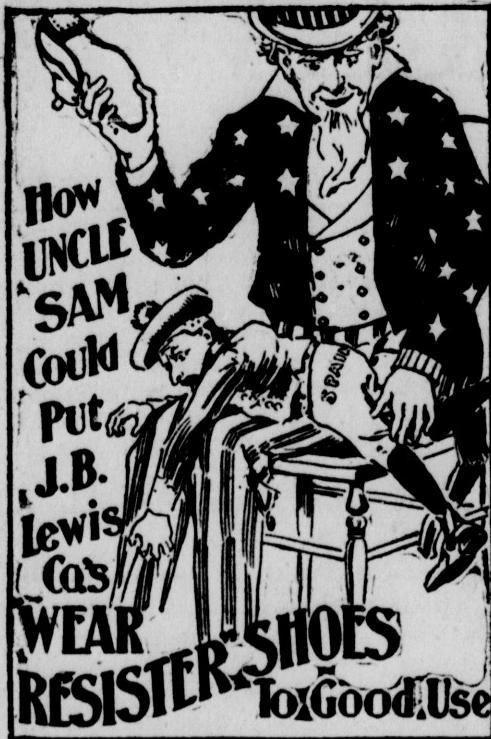

The threat of the American government to attack the Spanish coast has had no effect. A third squadron is preparing for the defense of the coast.

A member of the cabinet in an interview yesterday said: "Let them come. We will receive them as they deserve."

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Notwithstanding the report of the arrival of Admiral Camara's squadron at Port Said, the westerly entrance to the Suez canal, the officials here still doubt that the vessels are bound for the Philippines. Rumors reach here, unconfirmed as yet, that the only ironclads in the squadron, the Pelayo and Carlos V., have left the squadron and returned to Spain, so that Camara no longer possesses a force that would threaten Dewey. If this be so either the Spaniards have realized the folly of leaving the home ports unprotected, or they have received information from the British government that the navigation of the Suez canal cannot be jeopardized by allowing such deep draft, unwieldy ironclads to attempt the passage.

Some attention has been attracted at the State department by the dispatch from Madrid to a British paper, stating that Camara's purpose is not to attack Dewey, but to seize and hold with his ships and troops another island in the Philippine group. It is suspected, if this be so, that the object is purely diplomatic, the Spanish government being anxious to truthfully assert, in the event that peace negotiations are forced upon it, that the United States is not in such complete occupancy of the Philippines as would justify a demand for their retention as one of the terms of peace.

MUCH MORE DIFFICULT

For the Lesser Political Organizations

TO GO BEFORE THE PEOPLE

Now the Pugh Law Has Been Sustained by the Supreme Court—Something of the Case Which Attracted Widespread Attention.

Much interest was manifested among politicians in the city last Saturday when the information came that the Pugh law had been sustained by the supreme court, Judges Spear and Minshall being the dissenting voices.

The law was introduced by Senator J. C. L. Pugh and passed at the recent session. It provides that persons who sign petitions asking that a place upon the official ballot be given the tickets of minor parties must certify their intention to vote that ticket. The law was bitterly opposed by members of the minor parties, and in order to test it Richard Plummer, who was nominated for commissioner by the Prohibitionists in Franklin county, brought suit against the Franklin county board of elections to compel that body to place his name on the Australian ballot.

None of the lesser political organizations polled enough votes at the last election to give them a place on the ballot, and petitions with 1 per cent of the total vote last fall, or 8,640 names, must be presented to the secretary of state before they can be given a place on the ballot. The Pugh law will render it much more difficult now than formerly to secure the necessary number of signatures.

TWO BOYS LOST.

They Occasioned Much Alarm at Spring Grove.

There was a great deal of excitement yesterday at the camp ground.

In the morning two small boys started for a walk, and at 5 o'clock in the afternoon they had not returned. Searching parties were instituted, and the woods were thoroughly searched, but no trace of the boys could be found. They were finally located about three miles from the campground, near the Hickman farm, and were making their way home.

FAILED TO APPEAR.

Corporals and Sergeants Were Not Present For Drill.

The corporals and sergeants who were to have been drilled at city hall Saturday evening failed to appear.

Lieutenant Johnson and Sergeant Weaver had decided to drill their men that they in turn could instruct the various squads. Another meeting of the officers is called for this evening.

Glass In the Streets.

Wheelmen in the city are complaining about the large amount of glass in the streets, and think the police should do something to see that the parties who disobey the ordinance in this respect should be prosecuted.

Had a Hard Fall.

This morning a Wellsville bricklayer attempted to alight in Washington street from a rapidly moving street car. He came down on all fours while his dinner was scattered to the four winds.

PROBLEMS OF THE WAR

Henry Watterson on Disposition of Islands We May Capture.

FAVORS HOLDING ALL OF THEM.

To Surrender Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines After Acquiring Them Would Be, He Asserts, a Cowardly Abandonment of Obligations—Our Country Destined to Be a World Power. Views on Alliance With England.

I had a long talk with Henry Watterson recently relative to some of the problems growing out of the present war, and Mr. Watterson gave his views fully and frankly. "In the event that the Philippine islands, Cuba and Porto Rico are occupied by the American troops at the conclusion of the present war, what disposition do you think should be made of them?" I asked. "I think we should retain possession of them," Mr. Watterson replied. "Would you regard the possession of those islands necessary to indemnify us for the cost and sacrifice of the war or essential to the protection of our commerce or our citizens having interests in them?" "Direct indemnification for the losses of a war such as this is not of the first consequence. No money indemnity could satisfy us or be collected of Spain. A nation of shopkeepers they call us, and a nation of shopkeepers we may be, but in this business we are not after money. If Spain were less barbarous and corrupt, we could afford to be more generous.

"We set out to free Cuba of Spanish misrule and incidentally to redress a long series of Spanish outrages, culminating in the destruction of the Maine. But war rarely ends where it began. The war for the Union began with the declaration that it was not waged to free the slaves and ended with the abolition of slavery. The conquest of arms raises up unexpected conditions and responsibilities. The truth is that Spain is reaping the evil fruit of three centuries of national debauchery, and it is simply a historic accident that the final settlement of the account is relegated to the United States.

"We are, as it were, a trustee of civilization. In that character we shall presently find ourselves masters of a great deal of outlying territory, such as Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippine islands, having by that time already possessed ourselves of Hawaii. With these acquisitions there will spring into existence not merely a crop of commercial interests hitherto unknown, but of national aspirations hitherto undreamed of. We can no more escape these than we could any other imposition of good or ill fortune.

"To surrender territory acquired by the outlay of so much blood and treasure would be a wanton and cowardly abandonment of obligations and opportunities literally heaven sent, for they were not originally contemplated by anybody. We cannot remand the Philippines to Spain or commit them to a population incapable of self government, to become a prey of European diplomacy. Neither can we sell them to some purchasing power. We are bound to keep Porto Rico, if for nothing else than a coaling station, in case we get it.

Look at the map of the West Indies. See where Cuba lies right across our southern water front. Will any sane man say that we should ever permit it, once acquired, to pass out of our control?"

"Should the United States, in view of these things, change its traditional foreign policy?"

"The traditional stay at home and mind your own business policy laid down by Washington was wise for a weak and struggling nation, and, if it could be adhered to, would be wise for every people. But each of the centuries has its own tale of progress to tell, each raises up its own problems to be solved.

The difference between a scattered population, fringing the east Atlantic seaboard, and 80,000,000 of people, occupying and traversing the continent from the Atlantic to the Pacific, is too great to admit of contrast.

"As no preceding cycle, the intervening century has revolutionized the world. Another century may witness the transfer of human ambitions and activities from Europe and America to Asia and Africa. The Pacific, and not the Atlantic, may become the wash basin of the universe. Can the United States stand apart and aside while these movements of mankind, like a running stream, pass them by, an isolated and helpless mass of accumulated and corrupting riches? We could not if we would and we should not if we could."

"We must adapt ourselves to the changed order. We must make a new map. The vista, as it opens to our sight, is not so great as would have been the vista of Texas and California, Florida and Alaska to the eye of Washington. For all his wisdom the Father of His Country could not foresee electricity nor estimate the geographic contractions it would bring. Already the old world is receding. Another world is coming into view. The statesmanship of the twentieth century must address itself to this and will be largely constructive in its character. The cloth has been already partly cut out. It remains for statesmen to put it together so that the world may weat.

"The United States from now on is destined to be a world power. Henceforth its foreign policy will need to be completely reconstructed. The man who would cling to the traditions of Washington is as one who would reject the railway and travel by the stagecoach, or, disdaining the highway, would strike through the woods."

"Do you think we should permanently increase our army and navy and enter into a competition with the European powers in and across the Pacific?"

"Undoubtedly. From a nation of shopkeepers we become a nation of warriors. We escape the menace and peril of socialism and agrarianism, as England has escaped them, by a policy of colonization and conquest. From a provincial huddle of petty sovereignties held together by a rope of sand we rise to the dignity and prowess of an imperial republic incomparably greater than Rome.

"It is true that we exchange domestic dangers for foreign dangers, but in every direction we multiply the opportunities of the people. We risk Caesarism certainly, but even Caesarism is preferable to anarchism. We risk wars, but a man has but one time to die, and either in peace or war he is not likely to die until his time comes. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof. In short, anything is better than the pace we were going before these present forces were started into life. Already the young manhood of the country is as a goodly brand snatched from the burning and given a perspective replete with noble deeds and elevating ideas."

"On what ground would you favor the much talked of Anglo-American alliance?"

"I have never been, as you know, an Anglomaniac. I have regarded England as our greatest rival. Indeed as a life-long friend of Ireland I have held the English at arm's length. But the interposition of some disastrous mischance whenever Ireland has had a show of better times has made me despair of Irish freedom in that direction and by the old process of agitation, armed or otherwise. Indeed, Mr. Gladstone being dead, the Irish seem now to have more to expect from the Conservatives than from the Liberals, and hence in this particular regard the Irish question is eliminated altogether.

"In a general way, let me add, I have not much faith in international alliances. They often serve a purpose on occasion. Like an umbrella, they are good for a rainfall, but scarcely for a roof. Yet it cannot be denied that we are of the same blood and faith, and as no American would willingly see ill come to England so we might very well join the English in the work of putting the Anglo-Saxon imprint upon the reorganization of China and the repartition of territories in Africa and in Asia."

"What is your opinion of American sentiment as to these questions?"

"That is a matter to be determined by the future. Inevitably they will involve prolonged and it may be acrimonious discussion. All other issues will be subordinated to them. In my opinion, however, the end is inevitable. We have thrown off the swaddling clothes of national babyhood and stand forth an international giant, armed cap-a-pie." —Cor. New York Herald.

Nothing Was Lent.

"Are you the society editor?" asked the large woman, who seemed to fill the room.

"No, madam," said the one addressed. "I am only the court reporter."

"Really? I am surprised. But perhaps you will do. Your paper said in its account of the affair at my house that floral decorations 'lent beauty to the scene.' I wish you would have your paper state that the floral beauty was not lent. Everything was paid for." —Indianapolis Journal.

Mrs. Smitherleigh's Compensation.

"Wasn't it awfully hard for you to give your daughter up, Mrs. Smitherleigh?"

"Yes, it was hard to think of it, but she's going to live in the east, and I have always wanted to spend a summer down there so much." —Chicago News.

The Difference.

"I doan' see no diffunce 'twix de man 'at wucks an de man 'at loafers," said Deacon Johnson.

"Dey hain't no diffunce speshul," replied Deacon Jackson, " 'ceptin dat dey calls de loaferin feller 'kunnel.'" —Atlanta Journal.

UNION PAPERS.

All Union papers of East Liverpool are known to the various craft and unions of the city by the printing of the above Union Label at the head of their columns.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., MONDAY, JUNE 27.

"REMEMBER THE MAINE."

THE senate continues to discuss the Hawaiian matter, but, luckily, it is getting too hot to pay much attention to the senate.

THE question of gambling is so clearly understood by the people of Wellsville that the position taken by the Union can only excite ridicule. If almost every man, woman and child in the town, the city's officials excluded, did not know some things the Union might wear its mask of sanctimonious ignorance with some show of right.

PRESIDENT MCKINLEY has been compelled to face since the war began some forces which he could not crush, but he has patriotically whipped them fairly and squarely, and when the history of these troublesome times is written he will doubtless be given much more of the glory than even his best friends are now willing to accord him.

THE fight at La Quasina may go down in history as a skirmish, but to the American people it is of much more importance. It serves to show the gallantry of officers and men, and proves that while many of the force engaged had never before been in a battle, they did not lose their heads, but behaving like brave men and good soldiers won a signal victory.

REUNITING DEMOCRACY.

The opinions of Grover Cleveland and the opinions of Colonel Bryan, so far at least as they relate to what they style imperialism, are just now identical and it may prove a very good thing for the Democratic party. Mr. Cleveland has sent out the word of command to the gold wing of his party, and Colonel Bryan has informed the silverites what he expects them to do. That makes a reunited Democracy, provided the question of broadening the territory and power of the United States is the issue of the next campaign. That matter is yet to be decided. Events may do it long before the Democratic convention may convene and pass the necessary resolutions.

But should it be, it will certainly be a bitter pill for Colonel Bryan. He sprang before the Chicago convention and the world when the Democratic party was at war with itself, and on the strength of the assertion that he was the avowed champion of silver secured the nomination. On that line he fought the battle, and even after defeat was assured he continued in a vain attempt to convince the public that he still had a claim on their attention and was not politically dead. Silver was his cry. By it he would stand or fall. He would never forsake it. To him it was a sacred cause and he would fight its battles to the end.

Now it is evident the colonel has changed his mind. At the first opportunity he forgets silver, and realizing that thousands of Republicans believe in upholding the Stars and Stripes, protecting them while they float over any conquered territory, he takes the opposite course, abandoning as though it had never held complete possession of his being, his favorite theme. If the colonel adheres to this plan with Grover Cleveland and the rest of them there will be a reunited Democracy for the Republican party to face. But there must be no free silver in it. Cleveland will not have it. If it is a battle against "imperialism," Bryan must surrender.

A NEAT LITTLE GAME

It Involved the Ownership of a Horse,

BUT IT WAS VERY SHADY

And William Barcus Is Now In Jail Waiting Until He Can Be Heard by Squire Rose This Evening—The Accused Is Only 18 Years of Age.

William Barcus, aged 18 years, is in jail charged with horse stealing. He was arrested last evening by Constable Miller at the Headley homestead in California hollow on a charge preferred in Squire Rose's court by Elmer E. Birch, of Calcutta.

Saturday morning Barcus said he met an elderly gentleman in the Diamond whom he told he wanted to purchase a horse. The old man in question said he lived near Fredericktown and that he would give him a horse he had in pasture near Calcutta if he would go after it.

The men arranged to meet at River-view cemetery, and at 1:30 o'clock were on their way to Calcutta. They drove to the Thompson farm. The old man went in the field, captured the horse Birch put in to pasture at 1 o'clock, gave it to Barcus, who brought it to town. The animal was seen in the Diamond Saturday night by Ed Headley and Willis Gaston. Gaston said the horse was owned by Birch, and Headley suspecting something wrong, took the animal to Birch's farm yesterday morning.

When Miller went after the boy he tried to escape, but was soon captured. He will be given a hearing this evening at 7 o'clock, before Squire Rose.

JERICHO AND MANILA

Gave Doctor John Lloyd Lee a Good Subject.

Thunderstorms.

Do not imagine that because a heavy thunderstorm is far away to leeward it is not likely to arise and wet you. Even if the wind is blowing right against the cloud it will come your way all the more surely, for thunderstorms always travel against the wind.

The reason for this is that there is invariably a countercurrent of air above the breeze that you feel close to the earth, and this sky high wind blows in the opposite direction to the one which alone you can detect. Thus the tempest seems to work its way right through the wind's eye in a very contrary sort of way.

Fog never does this; neither does ordinary rain—at least very seldom—but snow or sleet some time works its way up wind just as the tempest does. Sheet lightning, by the way, is not a distinctive sort of light, but merely the reflection in the sky of a forked flash many miles away. You can tell how far away a tempest is by counting the number of seconds that pass between the flash and the pe

UNION PAPERS.

All Union papers of East Liverpool are known to the various craft and unions of the city by the printing of the above Union Label at the head of their columns.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., MONDAY, JUNE 27.

"REMEMBER THE MAINE."

THE senate continues to discuss the Hawaiian matter, but, luckily, it is getting too hot to pay much attention to the senate.

THE question of gambling is so clearly understood by the people of Wellsville that the position taken by the Union can only excite ridicule. If almost every man, woman and child in the town, the city's officials excluded, did not know some things the Union might wear its mask of sanctimonious ignorance with some show of right.

PRESIDENT MCKINLEY has been compelled to face since the war began some forces which he could not crush, but he has patriotically whipped them fairly and squarely, and when the history of these troublesome times is written he will doubtless be given much more of the glory than even his best friends are now willing to accord him.

THE fight at La Quasina may go down in history as a skirmish, but to the American people it is of much more importance. It serves to show the gallantry of officers and men, and proves that while many of the force engaged had never before been in a battle, they did not lose their heads, but behaving like brave men and good soldiers won a signal victory.

REUNITING DEMOCRACY.

The opinions of Grover Cleveland and the opinions of Colonel Bryan, so far at least as they relate to what they style imperialism, are just now identical and it may prove a very good thing for the Democratic party. Mr. Cleveland has sent out the word of command to the gold wing of his party, and Colonel Bryan has informed the silverites what he expects them to do. That makes a reunited Democracy, provided the question of broadening the territory and power of the United States is the issue of the next campaign. That matter is yet to be decided. Events may do it long before the Democratic convention may convene and pass the necessary resolutions.

But should it be, it will certainly be a bitter pill for Colonel Bryan. He sprang before the Chicago convention and the world when the Democratic party was at war with itself, and on the strength of the assertion that he was the avowed champion of silver secured the nomination. On that line he fought the battle, and even after defeat was assured he continued in a vain attempt to convince the public that he still had a claim on their attention and was not politically dead. Silver was his cry. By it he would stand or fall. He would never forsake it. To him it was a sacred cause and he would fight its battles to the end.

Now it is evident the colonel has changed his mind. At the first opportunity he forgets silver, and realizing that thousands of Republicans believe in upholding the Stars and Stripes, protecting them while they float over any conquered territory, he takes the opposite course, abandoning as though it had never held complete possession of his being, his favorite theme. If the colonel adheres to this plan with Grover Cleveland and the rest of them there will be a reunited Democracy for the Republican party to face. But there must be no free silver in it. Cleveland will not have it. If it is a battle against "imperialism," Bryan must surrender.

Strong Soup.

In the life of William Stokes, written by his son, which has appeared in London, it is told how Soyer was sent over to Dublin during the great famine to show the people how make soup. Stokes asked a starving beggar why she did not go and get some of the soup that was being freely distributed. "Soup, is it, your honor? Sure, it isn't soup at all." "And what is it, then?" inquired Stokes. "It is nothin', your honor, but a quart of water boiled down to a pint, to make it strong!" This is the soup maigre which Hogarth caricatured in his picture of the French troops at Calais.

WILL GO TO SPAIN

If Camara's Fleet Passes Port Said.

CONFICTING REPORTS TODAY

Some say the Spanish Admiral could obtain no coal, but later dispatches declare he is going through the Canal. Blanco has a few troubles of his own. American transports have not reached Manila.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—[Special]—It is officially announced here today that Commodore Watson, commanding the blockading fleet on the northern coast of Cuba, has been ordered to join Admiral Sampson, leaving before sunset.

He will take with him an armored squadron and proceeding to Spain will attack such cities as the board select, and ravage the coast.

The order is brought out by the fact that Spain is practically defenseless, and may be the means of causing Camara's return to Cadiz.

Commodore Watson will take with him a number of cruisers, but at this hour they have not been announced.

Later—it is known now that Commodore Watson's squadron will be made up of the Newark, Iowa, Oregon, Yosemite, Yankee, Dixie and three colliers.

NO COAL.

Admiral Camara Cannot Buy It Port Said.

PORT SAID, June 27.—[Special]—Admiral Camara and his fleet were here this morning and an effort was made to purchase coal in order that the fleet might proceed on its way to Manila.

It is learned upon the highest authority that the admiral could not obtain coal, every request being met with refusal.

GOING TODAY.

What the People of Madrid Think About It.

LONDON, June 27.—[Special]—A special received here this morning from Madrid says that Admiral Camara is provided with everything he needs, and is in readiness to leave for the Philippines today.

The report does not say whether he procured coal at Port Said, but adds that he and his men are well supplied for the voyage.

ANOTHER REPORT.

The Fleet said to be on Its Way to the Red Sea.

LONDON, June 27.—[Special]—The last report to reach here today is that Admiral Camara's fleet is passing through the Suez canal. There is nothing to show that it is authentic, the statement being based on a private dispatch from Port Said.

HAVANA'S POLICE

They Threaten Revolt, and the City Is Frightened.

KEY WEST, June 27.—[Special]—Reliable news reached here from Havana today which says the city is panic stricken because the entire police force threatens to revolt.

The rumor has been in circulation for several weeks that unless the police were given regular rations there would be trouble.

Famine, it is said, is imminent, yet no one is allowed to leave the city.

NO CHANGE.

American Transports Have Not Reached Manila.

MANILA, June 23, by dispatch boat to Hong Kong.—[Special]—The situation here is unchanged. No American transports have yet arrived. Admiral Dewey still commands the bay. No reports of fighting between insurgents and Spaniards since last week.

Glass Worker Arrested.

John Doyle, a Steubenville glass worker, was arrested by Officer Grim in Sixth street this afternoon for being drunk. He was taken to jail in the patrol, and will be heard tomorrow morning.

NO TRAINS YESTERDAY

Tons of Earth Covered the Track.

MAILS WENT THE OTHER WAY

One Mass of Dirt Covered the Tracks at the Foot of Third Street, and Another at Neil's Station—The Line Opened at Noon.

The rains descended and the floods came soon after midnight Saturday, and as a result the Cleveland and Pittsburg Railroad company sent no mail trains over this division yesterday.

The slide at Neil station at 12:45 Saturday night was more extensive than was first thought. The work train from Rochester worked until late yesterday afternoon before any trains could effect a passage. The train due in this city at 1:30 yesterday morning went to Cleveland by way of Alliance.

The Wellsville work train was called out to clear the track near the flint mill. Another slide occurred at the same place one week ago. The 5 o'clock train went to Rochester over the Ft. Wayne road. Freight trains were able to go through to Neil station at 8 o'clock yesterday morning.

The Lisbon and Pittsburg trunk lines of the telephone company were badly damaged by the storm yesterday morning. Linemen were at work all of yesterday making needed repairs, and this morning all the lines were working.

Supervisor Hayes stated this morning that every heavy rain would cause the company damage at the point in question, and if something was not done to carry off the great amount of water that came down the alley the loss would mount up into the thousands.

The principal annoyance caused in the city was the absence of the mail. Many persons who each Sunday morning go to the postoffice for the purpose of finding what the midnight train and the early train from the north had brought, were disappointed.

The Jubilee Service.

Tonight a special jubilee service will be held in the Methodist Protestant church in Fifth street. The service is the occasion of the burning of the mortgage that was paid last week by money raised last Easter. A musical program has been arranged and a number of former pastors of the church will be here. Those who are now here and will speak this evening are Rev. W. H. Gladden, of New Brighton; R. B. Whitehead, Braddock; Rev. Hastings, Toronto; and Will Curfman, of Adrian, Michigan.

A Dancing Feat.

A wonderful feat in dancing is recorded from Berlin. At a recent ball a prize of a gold ring was offered to the lady who waltzed the longest without stopping. Twelve couples competed. They began waltzing at 12:30 a.m. and it was 5:45 a.m. before the winner and her partner stopped waltzing. By 2:30 five couples dropped out, and at 5:15 another lady fainted. Two more couples dropped out at 4:45, and at 4:50 only two couples remained on the floor.

WILL GO TO SPAIN

If Camara's Fleet Passes Port Said.

CONFLICTING REPORTS TODAY

Some say the Spanish Admiral could obtain no coal, but later dispatches declare he is going through the Canal. Blanco has a few troubles of his own. American transports have not reached Manila.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—[Special]—It is officially announced here today that Commodore Watson, commanding the blockading fleet on the northern coast of Cuba, has been ordered to join Admiral Sampson, leaving before sunset.

He will take with him an armored squadron and proceeding to Spain will attack such cities as the board select, and ravage the coast.

The order is brought out by the fact that Spain is practically defenseless, and may be the means of causing Camara's return to Cadiz.

Commodore Watson will take with him a number of cruisers, but at this hour they have not been announced.

Later—it is known now that Commodore Watson's squadron will be made up of the Newark, Iowa, Oregon, Yosemite, Yankee, Dixie and three colliers.

NO COAL.

Admiral Camara Cannot Buy It Port Said.

PORT SAID, June 27.—[Special]—Admiral Camara and his fleet were here this morning and an effort was made to purchase coal in order that the fleet might proceed on its way to Manila.

It is learned upon the highest authority that the admiral could not obtain coal, every request being met with refusal.

GOING TODAY.

What the People of Madrid Think About It.

LONDON, June 27.—[Special]—A special received here this morning from Madrid says that Admiral Camara is provided with everything he needs, and is in readiness to leave for the Philippines today.

The report does not say whether he procured coal at Port Said, but adds that he and his men are well supplied for the voyage.

ANOTHER REPORT.

The Fleet said to be on Its Way to the Red Sea.

LONDON, June 27.—[Special]—The last report to reach here today is that Admiral Camara's fleet is passing through the Suez canal. There is nothing to show that it is authentic, the statement being based on a private dispatch from Port Said.

HAVANA'S POLICE

They Threaten Revolt, and the City Is Frightened.

KEY WEST, June 27.—[Special]—Reliable news reached here from Havana today which says the city is panic stricken because the entire police force threatens to revolt.

The rumor has been in circulation for several weeks that unless the police were given regular rations there would be trouble.

Famine, it is said, is imminent, yet no one is allowed to leave the city.

NO CHANGE.

MANILA, June 23, by dispatch boat to Hong Kong.—[Special]—The situation here is unchanged. No American transports have yet arrived. Admiral Dewey still commands the bay. No reports of fighting between insurgents and Spaniards since last week.

Glass Worker Arrested.

John Doyle, a Steubenville glass worker, was arrested by Officer Grim in Sixth street this afternoon for being drunk. He was taken to jail in the patrol, and will be heard tomorrow morning.

NO TRAINS YESTERDAY

Tons of Earth Covered the Track.

MAILS WENT THE OTHER WAY

One Mass of Dirt Covered the Tracks at the Foot of Third Street, and Another at Neil's Station—The Line Opened at Noon.

The rains descended and the floods came soon after midnight Saturday, and as a result the Cleveland and Pittsburg Railroad company sent no mail trains over this division yesterday.

The slide at Neil station at 12:45 Saturday night was more extensive than was first thought. The work train from Rochester worked until late yesterday afternoon before any trains could effect a passage. The train due in this city at 1:30 yesterday morning went to Cleveland by way of Alliance.

The Wellsville work train was called out to clear the track near the flint mill. Another slide occurred at the same place one week ago. The 5 o'clock train went to Rochester over the Ft. Wayne road. Freight trains were able to go through to Neil station at 8 o'clock yesterday morning.

The Lisbon and Pittsburg trunk lines of the telephone company were badly damaged by the storm yesterday morning. Linemen were at work all of yesterday making needed repairs, and this morning all the lines were working.

Supervisor Hayes stated this morning that every heavy rain would cause the company damage at the point in question, and if something was not done to carry off the great amount of water that came down the alley the loss would mount up into the thousands.

The principal annoyance caused in the city was the absence of the mail. Many persons who each Sunday morning go to the postoffice for the purpose of finding what the midnight train and the early train from the north had brought, were disappointed.

The Jubilee Service.

Tonight a special jubilee service will be held in the Methodist Protestant church in Fifth street. The service is the occasion of the burning of the mortgage that was paid last week by money raised last Easter. A musical program has been arranged and a number of former pastors of the church will here. Those who are now here and will speak this evening are Rev. W. H. Gladden, of New Brighton; R. B. Whitehead, Braddock; Rev. Hastings, Toronto; and Will Curnan, of Adrian, Michigan.

A Dancing Feat.

A wonderful feat in dancing is recorded from Berlin. At a recent ball a prize of a gold ring was offered to the lady who waltzed the longest without stopping. Twelve couples competed. They began waltzing at 12:30 a. m. and it was 5:45 a. m. before the winner and her partner stopped waltzing. By 2:30 five couples dropped out, and at 5:15 another lady fainted. Two more couples dropped out at 4:45, and at 4:50 only two couples remained on the floor.

Is Pronounced, But the Assessors' Books Show a Decrease That Was Not Expected. Details of the Hard Work Now at an End.

The board of equalization have finished their work, and the report will be filed Wednesday with the auditor.

The assessors' books showed the following for taxation: First ward, $102,968; Second ward, $144,970; Third ward, $86,778; Fourth ward, $31,980. This amount was increased by the board $8,205, making a total of $374,901. Last year the assessors' books showed a total of $396,529 and the reason given for the decrease is that many people have taken their money from the banks and invested in real estate.

The corporation this year are valued at $165,137 against $137,600 in 1897. This places the grand total for 1898 at $540,088 against $534,129 in 1897, or a net gain of $5,900.

The best show was made in new buildings, and in 1897 buildings to the value of $32,895 were erected, while this year amounted to $51,020 and were divided as follows:

First ward, $20,045; Second ward, $18,025; Third ward, $6,850; Fourth ward, $6,100.

NOW A BILLION DOLLAR NAVY.

Senator Hansbrough's Plan For Holding and Guarding Our Philippine Interests.

"Events of the past few weeks indicate that the policy of the government concerning the extension of its territorial lines is about to undergo a radical change," said Senator H. C. Hansbrough of North Dakota recently. "The time has come when the United States must keep pace with other nations of the world in the matter of acquiring additional territory. We are a great and growing people and cannot afford to remain in isolation as we have done in the past century. New issues have sprung out of the present war, and we must be prepared to meet them."

"The retention of the Philippine islands seems to me to be established beyond doubt. We have made every preparation for holding the islands and establishing a form of government over them. This means that we must build a great navy for their protection. That this newly acquired territory will be of great advantage to us in years to come I doubt not. Our commercial interests in the east make it an imperative necessity that we should have coaling stations where our merchantmen can find refuge in time of peace and where our warships may go for shelter in time of war. The scheme to build a new $1,000,000 navy has my hearty approval. We have reached a stage in the onward march of events where it is necessary we should have a navy second to none in the world."—New York World.

STRATEGIC SUGGESTIONS.

Leander J. McCormick Gives the War Department Some Valuable Hints.

Leander J. McCormick of Chicago is so much interested in the war with Spain that he follows closely every strategic movement made by the army and navy and from time to time sends suggestions to the authorities in Washington. His latest suggestion, if carried out, would make Aguinaldo, the Philippine insurgent, a general in the American army. After discussing the subject with several friends the other day Mr. McCormick sent the following telegram to Secretary Alger at Washington:

CHICAGO, June 14.—Would suggest making Aguinaldo a general in the American army, thus avoiding future complications at Manila.

LEANDER J. MCCORMICK.

According to reports from the war department, Secretary Alger considers the suggestion a good one, but because of established laws which prevent an alien from holding military or civil office in the United States he cannot apply it. It is possible Mr. McCormick had something to do with the sinking of the Merrimac in the entrance to Santiago harbor. On May 25 he sent the following telegram to John D. Long, secretary of the navy:

Sink a hulk in the channel entrance to Santiago harbor and thus keep the Spanish fleet in or out.

Ten days later the news came of Hobson's brave deed. Whether it was the result of Mr. McCormick's "tip" or not may never be made known.—Chicago Tribune.

PLANS FOR OUR PRISONERS.

Secretary Alger Thinking of Confining Captured Spaniards at Atlanta.

The question of the disposition of Spanish prisoners of war has not been decided fully, but it has been almost decided to establish a prison at Atlanta. If the 15,000 or more Spaniards are captured at Santiago, they will probably be brought to the United States without delay, although there are many reasons why it would be more convenient to have them remain in Cuba. The fear that they might fare badly at the hands of the Cubans who will be left in charge of Santiago after General Shafter's expedition goes to Porto Rico is the main objection to leaving captive troops at the places where they may be taken.

It will take a great many transports to bring 15,000 prisoners to the United States, and to transport them thence by train to the place of imprisonment, but the military authorities have decided that, all things considered, better provision for captives can be made if they are on United States soil. General Shafter's troops have provisions for six months, so that after Santiago falls there will be enough to spare to feed victors and vanquishers for a long time, thus giving the war department plenty of opportunity to engage vessels to bring the prisoners to the United States and to erect the necessary buildings at the place which Secretary Alger has in view for the prison.—New York Sun.

"Lost We Forget."

Unless we are ready to sacrifice our splendid independence and strong moral influence among the nations let us put behind us the temptation which assails us in the orient. We might better set our faces resolutely toward the accomplishment of the one purpose with which we took up arms and let the problem of the Philippines work itself out as time, justice and duty shall determine.—Detroit Free Press.

LEANDER J. MCCORMICK.

According to reports from the war department, Secretary Alger considers the suggestion a good one, but because of established laws which prevent an alien from holding military or civil office in the United States he cannot apply it. It is possible Mr. McCormick had something to do with the sinking of the Merrimac in the entrance to Santiago harbor. On May 25 he sent the following telegram to John D. Long, secretary of the navy:

Sink a hulk in the channel entrance to Santiago harbor and thus keep the Spanish fleet in or out.

Ten days later the news came of Hobson's brave deed. Whether it was the result of Mr. McCormick's "tip" or not may never be made known.—Chicago Tribune.

PLANS FOR OUR PRISONERS.

Secretary Alger Thinking of Confining Captured Spaniards at Atlanta.

The question of the disposition of Spanish prisoners of war has not been decided fully, but it has been almost decided to establish a prison at Atlanta.

If the 15,000 or more Spaniards are captured at Santiago, they will probably be brought to the United States without delay, although there are many reasons why it would be more convenient to have them remain in Cuba. The fear that they might fare badly at the hands of the Cubans who will be left in charge of Santiago after General Shafter's expedition goes to Porto Rico is the main objection to leaving captive troops at the places where they may be taken.

It will take a great many transports to bring 15,000 prisoners to the United States, and to transport them thence by train to the place of imprisonment, but the military authorities have decided that, all things considered, better provision for captives can be made if they are on United States soil. General Shafter's troops have provisions for six months, so that after Santiago falls there will be enough to spare to feed victors and vanquishers for a long time, thus giving the war department plenty of opportunity to engage vessels to bring the prisoners to the United States and to erect the necessary buildings at the place which Secretary Alger has in view for the prison.—New York Sun.

Unless we are ready to sacrifice our splendid independence and strong moral influence among the nations let us put behind us the temptation which assails us in the orient. When the Regiment Would Break Camp.

WAS A DAY OF DISAPPOINTMENT

Everybody Was Ready to Go When the Order to March Would Come, but It Did Not Come—A Few Words on Fakes. Lieutenant Hall's Dash.

CAMP ALGER, June 24.—[Special]—Today has been one of expectancy and disappointment.

Late last night orders were issued for the Eighth regiment to move at 4 o'clock today for Newport News. Preparations at once began; blankets were rolled, haversacks packed and everything that was considered unessential placed in boxes and sent home. The quartermaster's department was working a full force completing the equipment, after which all supplies remaining were boxed up. The commissary made requisition for three days' travel rations, and closed shop. Mess furniture was ready for shipment, and numerous wagons were on the grounds for hauling. About noon rumors began to float that the order had been countermanded, but none of the officers could verify the report, and the work of getting ready was continued.

Approaching Colonel Hard, I asked, "Do we move today?" The answer came, "No sir, we don't move today."

This information was quickly communicated to the boys, and then long faces were in order. The soldiers were mad—hopping mad, and the next order to move will not be met with such alacrity.

Yesterday the Sixth Illinois were "rubbered" in the same manner, and no doubt but what the Sixth Massachusetts will get a similar order before the day is over. Whether these orders are issued for practice or are bonafide it is impossible to ascertain, and when we will go to the front is beyond conjecture. We are ready, being fully equipped, and an hour's notice could see us on the march.

In connection with this order it was decided to cut the companies down to 83 men each, and that 20 of the "rookies" from each company should be assigned to other regiments. When we are aboard cars and the conductor gives the signal to start, we will give rumors credence, and not before. Thinking that we were being subjected to the same uncertainties as heretofore, I did not wire you, knowing that your readers are as tired of rumors as we are. When I telegraph another order to move you can rely on it.

Company E participated in its first sham battle today and was on the victorious side. Two battalions were given 10 rounds of blank ammunition for each man and ordered into the woods opposite camp for a contest. The troops started in at different points, and owing to the density of the woods it was some time before they met, and when they did there was volley after volley of musketry that could be heard for miles.

Lieutenant Hall, in command of Company E, made the brilliant move of the day. Noticing a Canton company which had become detached from its battalion, he at once deployed a skirmish line and closed in with the command "fire at will." The Cantonians were taken by surprise and in less time than it takes to note it, they found themselves hemmed in and surrendered without firing a shot.

A corporal of the Sixth Illinois died yesterday from an attack of measles, which developed into pneumonia.

All the boys are well, and look happily forward to the day when they will be lined up before Spain's troops.

New People In Town.

The effects of James Kaufman arrived on the Virginia from Pittsburgh, and those of George Milhaone came up the river from Hockingsport on the Kanawha.

At the freight depot the effects of James Pickering arrived from Trenton, and those belonging to Harry Early came in from Kokomo. The only moving sent out was that of H. G. Tissot, who went to Cleveland.

The various company clubs are making preparations for their annual outings.

The Athletic club will leave next week for Mackinac, while the Rod and Gun club will go to Marietta. The Sons of Veterans, as usual, will camp at Shelton's Grove.

THE ROUGH RIDERS' LIFE.

HARVARD MAN STARTS A FUND TO BUY HAMMOCKS AND MOSQUITO NETTING FOR THEM.

The First United States Volunteer cavalry, better known as Roosevelt's rough riders, was recruited from all parts of the Union, and, as it is not a state organization in any sense, it cannot draw material assistance from any of the volunteer aid associations, which are doing much to make our other citizen soldiers as comfortable as the exigencies of camp life will permit. Mr. William Tudor, a Harvard '71 man, has started a fund in Boston to buy hammocks and mosquito netting, two necessities of life in Cuba, for the rough riders, and it is believed that nearly enough money for this purpose can be raised by the friends of the Harvard men who are in this regiment. It was probably due to the fact that Lieutenant Colonel Roosevelt is a Harvard man that so many recruits were obtained from that university. A man who recently joined the regiment from New York and who lived in New York at the best clubs and restaurants, in a letter recently received, said that he enjoyed the life immensely, but that his appetite had increased in inverse proportion to the quantity of rations.

"I paid $5 for a beefsteak recently," he wrote from the transport at Tampa where he was quartered, "and I was glad to get it at any price. I don't believe that any such collection of men was ever gathered in one regiment before, and the experience of serving in it is one that every eastern man will long remember. With three genuine cowboys I ran the guard several night ago, and, although I am a law abiding citizen, I assisted in holding up a saloon for beer. My conscience didn't bother me because the saloon keeper himself was a robber."—New York Sun.

THE VESUVIUS' SHOTS.

SPANIARDS SAY THE AMERICANS ARE BEGINNING TO HURL EARTHQUAKES.

When Sylvester Scovel and Stephen Crane, with that thirst for adventure which makes them knight errants of journalism, landed on the coast of Cuba westward of Santiago, I landed at General Castillo's camp, 20 miles eastward.

We have 500 Cubans here, well armed, but poorly clad, with a week's provisions and only three horses in the camp. The men drill every morning. Two hundred navy rifles have been supplied to them by Admiral Sampson, which they value more highly than anything that could be given to them. General Castillo is highly intelligent and quite a gentleman. He hopes the American army will land slightly westward of his camp, which he considers the most desirable place. He has urged this on Admiral Sampson.

Two prisoners were brought into camp the other day. They were captured going with letters from Santiago to Guantanamo. They report that there is absolutely no flour left in Santiago. The people there are making bread out of rice. Other provisions also are very scarce. They graphically described the terrific effect of a shot fired from the Vesuvius. It struck Cayo Smith with appalling force. It was like an earthquake or some terrible volcanic explosion. The roof of a building and a part of a battery were simply wiped totally away, leaving no trace of fragments, while the whole countryside felt the concussion of the awful shock. The Spaniards say the Americans are beginning to hurl earthquakes.

General Castillo thinks that Santiago should be captured within ten days from the landing of the American troops, for which the present fine weather is extremely favorable. The prisoners confirm the news of the destructive effect of the last bombardment on the fortifications and the Reina Mercedes.—George Lynch in New York World.

NICARAGUA CANAL.

MR. JOSEPH NIMMO ON ITS USE IN REACHING MANILA.

As to the point that the Nicaragua canal, if now completed, would be of great use in reaching Manila, Mr. Joseph Nimmo shows in a recent letter that it is 11,565 miles from New York to Manila via the Suez canal and 11,746 miles via the Nicaragua canal. From Manila to London it is 9,600 miles via the Suez canal and 14,680 miles via the Nicaragua canal. The utility of the latter is not therefore so clear. The fact that the Nicaragua canal involves 220 feet of lockage and tolls—a serious impediment for large vessels—adds in effect 2,000 miles to the distance via the Nicaragua canal from New York to Manila.

For military purposes the canal would be useless unless we protect it from damage by large fleets at both ends and with soldiers distributed all along its length. For trade it is not much needed, in view of the many lines of railway we have crossing from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Sailing vessels could not reach it for want of wind, and but 300,000 tons of steam tonnage, Mr. Nimmo says, would be likely to use it. The Suez canal, being at the sea level, will be a successful competitor.—Baltimore Sun.

TRADE IN FIREWORKS.

MANUFACTURERS READY FOR THE NOISIEST FOURTH ON RECORD.

CONSERVATIVE DEALERS SAY THE DEMAND IS MUCH LARGER THAN IN ANY PREVIOUS YEAR—PORTRAITS IN FIRE OF DEWEY AND HOBSON—ROCKETS FOR THE GOVERNMENT.

The recent rush to the New York bureau of combustibles to obtain permits to sell fireworks and explosives calls attention to another of the effects upon trade and popular life of the present state of war. Two hundred men and women waited from as early as 7 o'clock until a quarter of 9 before the door of the building, and when it was opened they almost fell over each other in their eagerness to reach the office of the inspector. One hundred permits were issued in the first hour, and hundreds of applicants were still expectant. Some such scene is witnessed each year, but the number of petitioners and their anxiety surpassed all previous manifestations. The reason is that the extreme pitch of patriotic enthusiasm to which victorious war has wrought people craves on the coming Fourth and on any other plausible occasion expression in an unwonted roar and blaze of fireworks.

All the factories, all the wholesaling, jobbing and retailing houses engaged in the pyrotechnical business are crammed with all the standard means and every conceivable new device of making a flash and a noise. Invention has been taxed and even goaded on, but it must be confessed with slight results in the production of novelties. The profession of "original creations" is indeed not wanting, but, as an extremely candid dealer remarked, "There is a vast amount of humbug in this business, as in any other business that people in general don't understand, and so we put a blue paper around one explosive and call it one thing and a red paper around the same explosive and call it another, and so on."

After all, however, the main thing has been quantity and quality rather than design, and, given the excellent prospects and the inrushing orders, there has been no difficulty in providing what, unless the most sanguine expectation should prove to fall below the reality, will be ample to meet even the unexampled demand. This demand conservative dealers estimate at certainly not less than 25 per cent more than in any previous year within the recollection of the oldest of them.

The things having the strongest touch of newness will be those "set pieces" illustrating the ships, the achievements and the heroes of the navy in the conflict with Spain. The pictorial side of pyrotechnics has been developed gradually to really wonderful possibilities of depicting scenes and persons and is becoming more and more the chief interest of public displays on a large scale. Of course the merit of these pictures lies more in the degree of their triumph over the difficulties of the medium than in the actual artistic result achieved. An approximation is a grand success. A ship, however, does not require an explanatory legend beneath it, and portraiture may be said to have gone a step further than in the daily newspapers, the persons represented being commonly recognizable. So there are going to be numberless delineations in fire of Admiral Dewey's glorious victory at Manila—"using the same old things we've used for years," interjects the cynical dealer already quoted;

"for instance, the same outlines, frames and devices with which we described the bombardment of Alexandria, with perhaps a few vessels turned about to represent the Spanish fleet, but Alexandria will do for Manila and Arab Bey's fortifications for Cavite." As for the admiral, his countenance on a scale elevated from the merely heroic to the colossal will be limned in fire in a thousand places in the land on the most resounding Fourth experienced since the civil war.

Dewey's portraits are and long have been completed and laid abundantly in stock, and now the manufacturers are rushing work on thousands of fiery counterfeit presentations of the immortal young hero of the Merrimac. Hobson's photographs were not numerous, and, for fear of successful competition through superior accuracy, the fire artists have been conscientious about getting a correct likeness before setting to work. This has caused some delay and much chafing, but the lack has been rapidly supplied through the fecundity of photographers in copying copies of the few procurable photographs, and at last all the pyrotechnic portraitists are as busy as they can be over a piece which promises to be the most popular and profitable in their whole catalogue. It is probable, from the avidity with which the newest hero is snapped up, that Cadet Powell and Ensign Palmer will be added to the galaxy of those to be depicted in lines of living light. While Dewey and Hobson are the pieces de resistance, others are not forgotten; Sampson and Schley, "Fighting Bob" Evans, and the first slain, Ensign Bagley, come in for a large share of coruscation and glory, as do the prominent chiefs of the army.

In addition to visualizing in flame Manila, San Juan and Santiago the manufacturers are doing a large quantity of work especially for the government.

This comprises enemy rockets for signal purposes on land and sea, but mainly on the fleet. "In making these," said one of the manufacturers, "we have to give extreme care to the quality, for it would never do to have the signals fail at what might be a critical moment. The government is so appreciative of this fact that we can practically get out own price, but there is no chance to deceive and palm off anything less than the best, both in material and workmanship, for the navy department has experts who thoroughly understand the whole business and are relentless in inspection."—New York Post.

A German of Springfield, Mass., went into the police station the other day and desired to contribute $1 to help carry on the war because Spain tortured some of his ancestors in the inquisition, but the police decided that if they were tortured only $1 worth the case wasn't one to bother with, especially as the police had troubles of their own.

Mr. William Tudor, a Harvard '71 man, has started a fund in Boston to buy hammocks and mosquito netting, two necessities of life in Cuba, for the rough riders, and it is believed that nearly enough money for this purpose can be raised by the friends of the Harvard men who are in this regiment. It was probably due to the fact that Lieutenant Colonel Roosevelt is a Harvard man that so many recruits were obtained from that university. A man who recently joined the regiment from New York and who lived in New York at the best clubs and restaurants, in a letter recently received, said that he enjoyed the life immensely, but that his appetite had increased in inverse proportion to the quantity of rations.

"I paid $5 for a beefsteak recently," he wrote from the transport at Tampa where he was quartered, "and I was glad to get it at any price. I don't believe that any such collection of men was ever gathered in one regiment before, and the experience of serving in it is one that every eastern man will long remember. With three genuine cowboys I ran the guard several nights ago, and, although I am law abiding citizen, I assisted in holding up a saloon for beer. My conscience didn't bother me because the saloon keeper himself was a robber."—New York Sun.

THE VESUVIUS' SHOTS.

Spaniards Say the Americans Are Beginning to Hurl Earthquakes.

When Sylvester Scovel and Stephen Crane, with that thirst for adventure which makes them knight errants of journalism, landed on the coast of Cuba westward of Santiago, I landed at General Castillo's camp, 20 miles eastward.

We have 500 Cubans here, well armed, but poorly clad, with a week's provisions and only three horses in the camp. The men drill every morning. Two hundred navy rifles have been supplied to them by Admiral Sampson, which they value more highly than anything that could be given to them. General Castillo is highly intelligent and quite a gentleman. He hopes the American army will land slightly westward of his camp, which he considers the most desirable place. He has urged this on Admiral Sampson.

Two prisoners were brought into camp the other day. They were captured going with letters from Santiago to Guantanamo. They report that there is absolutely no flour left in Santiago. The people there are making bread out of rice. Other provisions also are very scarce. They graphically described the terrific effect of a shot fired from the Vesuvius. It struck Cayo Smith with appalling force. It was like an earthquake or some terrible volcanic explosion. The roof of a building and a part of a battery were simply wiped totally away, leaving no trace of fragments, while the whole countryside felt the concussion of the awful shock. The Spaniards say the Americans are beginning to hurl earthquakes.

General Castillo thinks that Santiago should be captured within ten days from the landing of the American troops, for which the present fine weather is extremely favorable. The prisoners confirm the news of the destructive effect of the last bombardment on the fortifications and the Reina Mercedes.—George Lynch in New York World.

NICARAGUA CANAL.

Mr. Joseph Nimmo on Its Use in Reaching Manila.

As to the point that the Nicaragua canal, if now completed, would be of great use in reaching Manila, Mr. Joseph Nimmo shows in a recent letter that it is 11,565 miles from New York to Manila via the Suez canal and 11,746 miles via the Nicaragua canal. From Manila to London it is 9,600 miles via the Suez canal and 14,680 miles via the Nicaragua canal. The utility of the latter is not therefore so clear. The fact that the Nicaragua canal involves 220 feet of lockage and tolls—a serious impediment for large vessels—adds in effect 2,000 miles to the distance via the Nicaragua canal from New York to Manila.

For military purposes the canal would be useless unless we protect it from damage by large fleets at both ends and with soldiers distributed all along its length. For trade it is not much needed, in view of the many lines of railway we have crossing from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Sailing vessels could not reach it for want of wind, and but 300,000 tons of steam tonnage, Mr. Nimmo says, would be likely to use it. The Suez canal, being at the sea level, will be a successful competitor.—Baltimore Sun.

TRADE IN FIREWORKS

MANUFACTURERS READY FOR THE NOISIEST FOURTH ON RECORD.

Conservative Dealers Say the Demand Is Much Larger Than In Any Previous Year—Portraits In Fire of Dewey and Hobson—Rockets For the Government.

The recent rush to the New York bureau of combustibles to obtain permits to sell fireworks and explosives calls attention to another of the effects upon trade and popular life of the present state of war. Two hundred men and women waited from as early as 7 o'clock until a quarter of 9 before the door of the building, and when it was opened they almost fell over each other in their eagerness to reach the office of the inspector. One hundred permits were issued in the first hour, and hundreds of applicants were still expectant. Some such scene is witnessed each year, but the number of petitioners and their anxiety surpassed all previous manifestations. The reason is that the extreme pitch of patriotic enthusiasm to which victorious war has wrought people craves on the coming Fourth and on any other plausible occasion expression in an unwonted roar and blaze of fireworks.

All the factories, all the wholesaling, jobbing and retailing houses engaged in the pyrotechnical business are crammed with all the standard means and every conceivable new device of making a flash and a noise. Invention has been taxed and even goaded on, but it must be confessed with slight results in the production of novelties. The profession of "original creations" is indeed not wanting, but, as an extremely candid dealer remarked, "There is a vast amount of humbug in this business, as in any other business that people in general don't understand, and so we put a blue paper around one explosive and call it one thing and a red paper around the same explosive and call it another, and so on."

After all, however, the main thing has been quantity and quality rather than design, and, given the excellent prospects and the inrushing orders, there has been no difficulty in providing what, unless the most sanguine expectation should prove to fall below the reality, will be ample to meet even the unexampled demand. This demand conservative dealers estimate at certainly not less than 25 per cent more than in any previous year within the recollection of the oldest of them.

The things having the strongest touch of newness will be those "set pieces" illustrating the ships, the achievements and the heroes of the navy in the conflict with Spain. The pictorial side of pyrotechnics has been developed gradually to really wonderful possibilities of depicting scenes and persons and is becoming more and more the chief interest of public displays on a large scale. Of course the merit of these pictures lies more in the degree of their triumph over the difficulties of the medium than in the actual artistic result achieved. An approximation is a grand success. A ship, however, does not require an explanatory legend beneath it, and portraiture may be said to have gone a step further than in the daily newspapers, the persons represented being commonly recognizable. So there are going to be numberless delineations in fire of Admiral Dewey's glorious victory at Manila—"using the same old things we've used for years," interjected the cynical dealer already quoted; "for instance, the same outlines, frames and devices with which we described the bombardment of Alexandria, with perhaps a few vessels turned about to represent the Spanish fleet, but Alexandria will do for Manila and Arab Bey's fortifications for Cavite." As for the admiral, his countenance on a scale elevated from the merely heroic to the colossal will be limned in fire in a thousand places in the land on the most resounding Fourth experienced since the civil war.

Dewey's portraits are and long have been completed and laid abundantly in stock, and now the manufacturers are rushing work on thousands of fiery counterfeit presentations of the immortal young hero of the Merrimac. Hobson's photographs were not numerous, and, for fear of successful competition through superior accuracy, the fire artists have been conscientious about getting a correct likeness before setting to work. This has caused some delay and much chafing, but the lack has been rapidly supplied through the fecundity of photographers in copying copies of the few procurable photographs, and at last all the pyrotechnic portraitists are as busy as they can be over a piece which promises to be the most popular and profitable in their whole catalogue. It is probable, from the avidity with which the newest hero is snapped up, that Cadet Powell and Ensign Palmer will be added to the galaxy of those to be depicted in lines of living light. While Dewey and Hobson are the pieces de resistance, others are not forgotten; Sampson and Schley, "Fighting Bob" Evans, and the first slain, Ensign Bagley, come in for a large share of coronation and glory, as do the prominent chiefs of the army.

In addition to visualizing in flame Manila, San Juan and Santiago the manufacturers are doing a large quantity of work especially for the government.

This comprises enemy rockets for signal purposes on land and sea, but mainly on the fleet. "In making these," said one of the manufacturers, "we have to give extreme care to the quality, for it would never do to have the signals fail at what might be a critical moment. The government is so appreciative of this fact that we can practically get out own price, but there is no chance to deceive and palm off anything less than the best, both in material and workmanship, for the navy department has experts who thoroughly understand the whole business and are relentless in inspection."—New York Post.

As soon as these stores arrived they were rushed to the various regiments for which they were intended.

Three Storm Victims.

MARIETTA, O., June 27.—During the storm Saturday a party of excursionists aboard the steamer William Duffie were being conveyed to Buckeye park, a mile above this city, where the local order of the United Commercial Travelers were holding a picnic. Four hundred persons were on the boat, when suddenly a gust of wind struck the vessel and it careened, forcing a large number of the excursionists into the water. Three young men were drowned. They were: John Gerken of the orchestra, L. A. Bevan, a commercial traveler living here, and Malcolm Nye of Boston, the son of Colonel Nye of this city, who was at home on a visit.

Killed During a Storm.

PITTSBURG, June 27.—Mrs. Nellie Harmon's grocery store, on Fifteenth avenue, near Robinson street, was unroofed, the upper portion of the superstructure being carried across the street and against a frame building fronting on Fifth avenue during the storm Saturday night. The General Says Three Spanish Generals Took Part In Fight at Sevilla. Five Wagon Loads of Wounded Were Taken Into Santiago and Many Others Wounded Got There on Horses or Afoot—Shafter Well Satisfied.

HEADQUARTERS OF GENERAL CHAFFEE, TWO MILES BEYOND SEVILLA, June 26, by Dispatch boat via Port Antonio, Jamaica, June 27.—The American troops are now within four miles of Santiago, except for hills on the south, which extend to within a mile of Santiago. These hills appear deserted. The country is fairly open, and it will not be difficult to move troops over it. General Chaffee occupies Sevilla today.

ROUGH RIDERS TRAPPED.

Roosevelt and the Men Rode Into a Finely Prepared Ambuscade—Known Dead, Wounded and Missing.

JURAGUA, Cuba, June 25, per Dispatch Boat Dandy, via Kingston, Jamaica, June 27.—The initial fight of Colonel Wood's rough riders, and the troopers of the First and Tenth cavalry, an account of which has appeared in these dispatches, will be known in history as the battle of La Quasina. That it did not end in the complete slaughter of the Americans was not due to any miscalculation in the plan of the Spaniards, for as perfect an ambuscade as was ever formed in the brain of an Apache Indian was prepared, and Lieutenant Colonel Roosevelt and his men walked squarely into it. For an hour and a half they held their ground under a perfect storm of bullets from the front and sides, and then Colonel Wood at the right and Lieutenant Colonel Roosevelt at the left led a charge which turned the tide of battle and sent the enemy flying over the hills toward Santiago.

Two miles beyond, far out in front of the American forces and occupying the roads leading to Santiago, is a force of 1,500 Cubans under General Carlos Gonzales. The entire Cuban army, under direction of General Calixto Garcia, is massing for a co-operative attack on Santiago.

ON BOARD THE DISPATCH BOAT DANDY, OFF JUNAGUA, June 25, via Kingston, June 27.—Troops of the United States and Spain are less than four miles apart.

Tonight the picket lines at certain points are within hailing distance of the enemy. It seems certain that the battle of Santiago must come within a week.

The troops are all ashore here and at Baiquiri, with the exception of a few scattered companies that have gone forward. The supplies are sufficient to enable the army to sustain a week's campaign at both landing points.

There is a continual procession of small boats riding onto the beach through the pounding surf, and as one week's rations are already landed, it is believed the required supplies will all be ashore by Tuesday, the 28th.

The landing of troops, horses and supplies has been extraordinary. With only one steam barge, and compelled to depend on treacherous small boats, General Shafter has landed over 16,000 men, hundreds of horses and mules and thousands of dollars worth of supplies on the exposed beaches and only two men have lost their lives. No more than 50 animals have been drowned and scarcely a package of supplies lost.

The officers generally are surprised at the small loss of life and property. General Shafter said to a correspondent today:

"I am well satisfied with the progress that is being made. The disembarkation is slow, but considering the limited facilities and the exposed nature of the landing places, the men have done well. I only await the landing of sufficient supplies to begin the movement on Santiago. I am unable to say when it will take place. I am much pleased at the gallant conduct of our men in the action at Seville yesterday and with their cool and veteran-like work. The victory was complete."

General Wheeler, in his official report, places the number of dead in the engagement at Seville as 22 and the wounded at between 70 and 80. No attempt has yet been made to prepare an official list with the names of the dead and wounded. The high grass and bushes of the battleground make it difficult to find the bodies, but an official list will probably be prepared by Monday.

The bodies of 39 Spaniards have been found and the Spanish loss in killed and wounded was doubtless much heavier than the American.

The majority of the American troops are now here or at the front in the vicinity of Seville. The force at the latter place, which is about nine miles from Santiago, numbers 6,000 Americans and 1,500 Cubans. General Wheeler is in command there, with Generals Young, Lawton and Chaffee. General Wheeler will remain at Seville, which will be made a rendezvous for the troops landing at Baiquiri and at this point, the artillery and cavalry being put forward from Baiquiri. The cavalry have been sent ahead to cut a wagon road through the underbrush.

From the American position at Seville, Santiago is plainly visible and the fortifications can be seen. The following reports to General Shafter from generals at the front show the conditions:

To General Shafter:

"I have just seen two negro boys who left Santiago this morning (Saturday). They report that the soldiers and citizens are very short of food. The soldiers and officers have seized all the food in the shops. They are killing young horses for food, and in the hospitals are subsisting on bread made of rice flour.

Three Spanish generals took part in the fight at Sevilla yesterday. Five wagon loads of wounded were carried into Santiago, and many others wounded got there on horses or afoot. We can see Morro castle and the flag very distinctly from our position. The Cubans confirm the reports as to the fine character of the fortifications around the city. Seven lines of barbed wire are stretched around the trenches. The Spaniards have recently dug deep trenches around the entire city, connecting a series of small forts.

GUFFEY IS FOR JENKS.

Withdrew as Candidate For Democratic Gubernatorial Nomination In Pennsylvania.

PITTSBURG, June 27.—James M. Guffey has quit the gubernatorial race. In speech to the Allegheny county delegates to the state convention Saturday afternoon Mr. Guffey formally announced his withdrawal, counseled against the nomination of Judge James Gay Gordon, and warmly indorsed George A. Jenks, who, through Mr. Guffey's influence, will undoubtedly be nominated at Wednesday's convention. It was a complete clearing away of the political clouds, and leaves the situation under bright light. General A. H. Coffroth of Somerset county, while in the city yesterday, also withdrew from the contest, and he and his followers will be found with the Guffey following at the convention.

This further cleared the atmosphere, and leaves George A. Jenks, with Mr. Guffey and the Democratic forces supporting him, and Judge Gordon, and the anti-Quay Republican leaders of Philadelphia supporting him, in the contest for first honors at the convention. The delegates from this county unanimously and with cheers indorsed George A. Jenks for governor and pledged him their support in the convention.

ACCUSTOMED TO BLOCKADE.

A Spanish Correspondent Says Things Are Moving Along Happily In Havana—Official Accounts of Fights.

[From a Spanish Correspondent.]

HAVANA, June 27.—The people of Havana are getting accustomed to the blockade and the incidents of war times. Their courage is returning and they are once more resuming attendance upon religious services and participating in their customary amusements.

The churches, theaters, parks and the bay are literally crowded. The ladies have chosen San Lazaro avenue as the fashionable promenade and drive. From that thoroughfare they can watch the movements of the blockading ships with glasses and many a light jest falls from beautiful lips. Equestrians accompany the carriages, and the military element, high in the favor of Cuban women, is conspicuously in evidence.

Official accounts say the American forces, supported by artillery, attacked the Spanish near Santiago de Cuba on the morning of the 23d, but were repelled with loss. The Spanish losses on the 23d and 24th were one officer and eight soldiers killed and three officers and 24 soldiers wounded.

The Americans in the combat of the 24th (Friday) alone had 12 killed, among these a captain, and 50 wounded.

On Friday morning, at Baiquiri, the Americans in considerable force, supported by artillery, renewed the attack. Among the attacking forces were insurgents shouting "Cuba libre." In the two engagements the Americans alone sustained no fewer than 80 lost, killed and wounded.

MUCH MORE DIFFICULT

For the Lesser Political Organizations

TO GO BEFORE THE PEOPLE

Now the Pugh Law Has Been Sustained by the Supreme Court—Something of the Case Which Attracted Widespread Attention.

Much interest was manifested among politicians in the city last Saturday when the information came that the Pugh law had been sustained by the supreme court, Judges Spear and Minshall being the dissenting voices.

The law was introduced by Senator J. C. L. Pugh and passed at the recent session. It provides that persons who sign petitions asking that a place upon the official ballot be given the tickets of minor parties must certify their intention to vote that ticket. The law was bitterly opposed by members of the minor parties, and in order to test it Richard Plummer, who was nominated for commissioner by the Prohibitionists in Franklin county, brought suit against the Franklin county board of elections to compel that body to place his name on the Australian ballot.

None of the lesser political organizations polled enough votes at the last election to give them a place on the ballot, and petitions with 1 per cent of the total vote last fall, or 8,640 names, must be presented to the secretary of state before they can be given a place on the ballot. The Pugh law will render it much more difficult now than formerly to secure the necessary number of signatures.

TWO BOYS LOST.

They Occasioned Much Alarm at Spring Grove.

There was a great deal of excitement yesterday at the camp ground.

In the morning two small boys started for a walk, and at 5 o'clock in the afternoon they had not returned. Searching parties were instituted, and the woods were thoroughly searched, but no trace of the boys could be found. They were finally located about three miles from the campground, near the Hickman farm, and were making their way home.

FAILED TO APPEAR.

Corporals and Sergeants Were Not Present For Drill.

The corporals and sergeants who were to have been drilled at city hall Saturday evening failed to appear.

Lieutenant Johnson and Sergeant Weaver had decided to drill their men that they in turn could instruct the various squads. Another meeting of the officers is called for this evening.

Glass In the Streets.

Wheelmen in the city are complaining about the large amount of glass in the streets, and think the police should do something to see that the parties who disobey the ordinance in this respect should be prosecuted.

Had a Hard Fall.

This morning a Wellsville bricklayer attempted to alight in Washington street from a rapidly moving street car. He came down on all fours while his dinner was scattered to the four winds.

PROBLEMS OF THE WAR

Henry Watterson on Disposition of Islands We May Capture.

FAVORS HOLDING ALL OF THEM.

To Surrender Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines After Acquiring Them Would Be, He Asserts, a Cowardly Abandonment of Obligations—Our Country Destined to Be a World Power. Views on Alliance With England.

I had a long talk with Henry Watterson recently relative to some of the problems growing out of the present war, and Mr. Watterson gave his views fully and frankly. "In the event that the Philippine islands, Cuba and Porto Rico are occupied by the American troops at the conclusion of the present war, what disposition do you think should be made of them?" I asked. "I think we should retain possession of them," Mr. Watterson replied. "Would you regard the possession of those islands necessary to indemnify us for the cost and sacrifice of the war or essential to the protection of our commerce or our citizens having interests in them?" "Direct indemnification for the losses of a war such as this is not of the first consequence. No money indemnity could satisfy us or be collected of Spain. A nation of shopkeepers they call us, and a nation of shopkeepers we may be, but in this business we are not after money. If Spain were less barbarous and corrupt, we could afford to be more generous."

"We set out to free Cuba of Spanish misrule and incidentally to redress a long series of Spanish outrages, culminating in the destruction of the Maine. But war rarely ends where it began. The war for the Union began with the declaration that it was not waged to free the slaves and ended with the abolition of slavery. The conquest of arms raises up unexpected conditions and responsibilities. The truth is that Spain is reaping the evil fruit of three centuries of national debauchery, and it is simply a historic accident that the final settlement of the account is relegated to the United States.

"We are, as it were, a trustee of civilization. In that character we shall presently find ourselves masters of a great deal of outlying territory, such as Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippine islands, having by that time already possessed ourselves of Hawaii. With these acquisitions there will spring into existence not merely a crop of commercial interests hitherto unknown, but of national aspirations hitherto undreamed of. We can no more escape these than we could any other imposition of good or ill fortune."

"To surrender territory acquired by the outlay of so much blood and treasure would be a wanton and cowardly abandonment of obligations and opportunities literally heaven sent, for they were not originally contemplated by anybody. We cannot remand the Philippines to Spain or commit them to a population incapable of self government, to become a prey of European diplomacy. Neither can we sell them to some purchasing power. We are bound to keep Porto Rico, if for nothing else than a coaling station, in case we get it. Look at the map of the West Indies. See where Cuba lies right across our southern water front. Will any sane man say that we should ever permit it, once acquired, to pass out of our control?"

"Should the United States, in view of these things, change its traditional foreign policy?"

"The traditional stay at home and mind your own business policy laid down by Washington was wise for a weak and struggling nation, and, if it could be adhered to, would be wise for every people. But each of the centuries has its own tale of progress to tell, each raises up its own problems to be solved. The difference between a scattered population, fringing the east Atlantic seaboard, and 80,000,000 of people, occupying and traversing the continent from the Atlantic to the Pacific, is too great to admit of contrast."

"As no preceding cycle, the intervening century has revolutionized the world. Another century may witness the transfer of human ambitions and activities from Europe and America to Asia and Africa. The Pacific, and not the Atlantic, may become the washbasin of the universe. Can the United States stand apart and aside while these movements of mankind, like a running stream, pass them by, an isolated and helpless mass of accumulated and corrupting riches? We could not if we would and we should not if we could."

"We must adapt ourselves to the changed order. We must make a new map. The vista, as it opens to our sight, is not so great as would have been the vista of Texas and California, Florida and Alaska to the eye of Washington. For all his wisdom the Father of His Country could not foresee electricity nor estimate the geographic contractions it would bring. Already the old world is receding. Another world is coming into view. The statesmanship of the twentieth century must address itself to this and will be largely constructive in its character. The cloth has been already partly cut out. It remains for statesmen to put it together so that the world may wear it."

"The United States from now on is destined to be a world power. Henceforth its foreign policy will need to be completely reconstructed. The man who would cling to the traditions of Washington is as one who would reject the railway and travel by the stagecoach, or, disdaining the highway, would strike through the woods."

"Do you think we should permanently increase our army and navy and enter into a competition with the European powers in and across the Pacific?"

"Undoubtedly. From a nation of shopkeepers we become a nation of warriors. We escape the menace and peril of socialism and agrarianism, as England has escaped them, by a policy of colonization and conquest. From a provincial huddle of petty sovereignties held together by a rope of sand we rise to the dignity and prowess of an imperial republic incomparably greater than Rome."

"It is true that we exchange domestic dangers for foreign dangers, but in every direction we multiply the opportunities of the people. We risk Caesarism certainly, but even Caesarism is preferable to anarchism. We risk wars, but a man has but one time to die, and either in peace or war he is not likely to die until his time comes. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof. In short, anything is better than the pace we were going before these present forces were started into life. Already the young manhood of the country is as a goodly brand snatched from the burning and given a perspective replete with noble deeds and elevating ideas."

"On what ground would you favor the much talked of Anglo-American alliance?"

"I have never been, as you know, an Anglophile. I have regarded England as our greatest rival. Indeed as a lifelong friend of Ireland I have held the English at arm's length. But the interposition of some disastrous mischance whenever Ireland has had a show of better times has made me despair of Irish freedom in that direction and by the old process of agitation, armed or otherwise. Indeed, Mr. Gladstone being dead, the Irish seem now to have more to expect from the Conservatives than from the Liberals, and hence in this particular regard the Irish question is eliminated altogether."

"In a general way, let me add, I have not much faith in international alliances. They often serve a purpose on occasion. Like an umbrella, they are good for a rainfall, but scarcely for a roof. Yet it cannot be denied that we are of the same blood and faith, and as no American would willingly see ill come to England so we might very well join the English in the work of putting the Anglo-Saxon imprint upon the reorganization of China and the repartition of territories in Africa and in Asia."

"What is your opinion of American sentiment as to these questions?"

"That is a matter to be determined by the future. Inevitably they will involve prolonged and it may be acrimonious discussion. All other issues will be subordinated to them. In my opinion, however, the end is inevitable. We have thrown off the swaddling clothes of national babyhood and stand forth an international giant, armed cap-a-pie." —Cor. New York Herald.

Nothing Was Lent.

"Are you the society editor?" asked the large woman, who seemed to fill the room.

"No, madam," said the one addressed. "I am only the court reporter."

"Really? I am surprised. But perhaps you will do. Your paper said in its account of the affair at my house that floral decorations 'lent beauty to the scene.' I wish you would have your paper state that the floral beauty was not lent. Everything was paid for." —Indianapolis Journal.

Mrs. Smitherleigh's Compensation.

"Wasn't it awfully hard for you to give your daughter up, Mrs. Smitherleigh?"

"Yes, it was hard to think of it, but she's going to live in the east, and I have always wanted to spend a summer down there so much." —Chicago News.

Unavailing Prayer.

Theodore F. Seward, the organizer of the Don't Worry clubs, tells a good story of a little boy who had reached the multiplication table in the course of his education. One night he was sitting anxiously over a paper of figures, when his mother came along and said, "Johnnie, do you find your arithmetic very hard?" "Yes, indeed, mamma, I do," was his reply. "It was so awful hard that I prayed to God to help me, but he's made three mistakes already."

Cigars and Nervousness.

"You're nervous," said the doctor. "Quite right," admitted the patient. "That's why I sent for you."

"The only thing for you to do," explained the doctor, "is to give up smoking entirely."

"I don't smoke at all," answered the patient.

"Ah!" said the doctor. "Then the thing for you to do is to smoke a good cigar or a pipe occasionally. It has a very soothing effect."

It's easy to prescribe when you know how. —Chicago Post.

To the Army Mule.

The war steed wins his meed of praise,
Oft sharing, on the shining page
Of history, fame's golden words,
Which are the hero's heritage.
In monumental brass he makes
A part of glory's entourage.

A city once was named for him.
With thee, O mule, it is not thus!
No modern Alexander'll find
In thee a new Bucephalus.
Thou'ret nothing but a nondescript—
In life and death inglorious!

I mind me of but one 'mong all
Thy kind who o'er on glory's track
Has made a record—only one,
And that the white mule Alborak,
Who, so 'tis said, bore Mohammed
To Allah's heaven upon his back.

The battle charger's shade no doubt
Neighs in Valhalla's vestibule,
But ne'er a niche doth fame reserve
For thee, O plodding army mule!
Thy ghost, among the demigods,
Would be a butt for ridicule!

Yet, though to glory's camping ground
Fate ne'er for thee let down the bars,
Though thou may'st never be the mount
By which the hero seeks the stars,
I strike my lyre to celebrate
Thee, O thou toughest aid of Mars!

UNION PAPERS.

All Union papers of East Liverpool are known to the various craft and unions of the city by the printing of the above Union Label at the head of their columns.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., MONDAY, JUNE 27.

"REMEMBER THE MAINE."

THE senate continues to discuss the Hawaiian matter, but, luckily, it is getting too hot to pay much attention to the senate.

THE question of gambling is so clearly understood by the people of Wellsville that the position taken by the Union can only excite ridicule. If almost every man, woman and child in the town, the city's officials excluded, did not know some things the Union might wear its mask of sanctimonious ignorance with some show of right.

PRESIDENT MCKINLEY has been compelled to face since the war began some forces which he could not crush, but he has patriotically whipped them fairly and squarely, and when the history of these troublesome times is written he will doubtless be given much more of the glory than even his best friends are now willing to accord him.

THE fight at La Quasina may go down in history as a skirmish, but to the American people it is of much more importance. It serves to show the gallantry of officers and men, and proves that while many of the force engaged had never before been in a battle, they did not lose their heads, but behaving like brave men and good soldiers won a signal victory.

REUNITING DEMOCRACY.

The opinions of Grover Cleveland and the opinions of Colonel Bryan, so far at least as they relate to what they style imperialism, are just now identical and it may prove a very good thing for the Democratic party. Mr. Cleveland has sent out the word of command to the gold wing of his party, and Colonel Bryan has informed the silverites what he expects them to do. That makes a reunited Democracy, provided the question of broadening the territory and power of the United States is the issue of the next campaign. That matter is yet to be decided. Events may do it long before the Democratic convention may convene and pass the necessary resolutions.

But should it be, it will certainly be a bitter pill for Colonel Bryan. He sprang before the Chicago convention and the world when the Democratic party was at war with itself, and on the strength of the assertion that he was the avowed champion of silver secured the nomination. On that line he fought the battle, and even after defeat was assured he continued in a vain attempt to convince the public that he still had a claim on their attention and was not politically dead. Silver was his cry. By it he would stand or fall. He would never forsake it. To him it was a sacred cause and he would fight its battles to the end.

Now it is evident the colonel has changed his mind. At the first opportunity he forgets silver, and realizing that thousands of Republicans believe in upholding the Stars and Stripes, protecting them while they float over any conquered territory, he takes the opposite course, abandoning as though it had never held complete possession of his being, his favorite theme. If the colonel adheres to this plan with Grover Cleveland and the rest of them there will be a reunited Democracy for the Republican party to face. But there must be no free silver in it. Cleveland will not have it. If it is a battle against "imperialism," Bryan must surrender.

A NEAT LITTLE GAME

It Involved the Ownership of a Horse,

BUT IT WAS VERY SHADY

And William Barcus Is Now In Jail Waiting Until He Can Be Heard by Squire Rose This Evening—The Accused Is Only 18 Years of Age.

William Barcus, aged 18 years, is in jail charged with horse stealing. He was arrested last evening by Constable Miller at the Headly homestead in California hollow on a charge preferred in Squire Rose's court by Elmer E. Birch, of Calcutta.

Saturday morning Barcus said he met an elderly gentleman in the Diamond whom he told he wanted to purchase a horse. The old man in question said he lived near Fredericktown and that he would give him a horse he had in pasture near Calcutta if he would go after it.

The men arranged to meet at River-view cemetery, and at 1:30 o'clock were on their way to Calcutta. They drove to the Thompson farm. The old man went in the field, captured the horse Birch put in to pasture at 1 o'clock, gave it to Barcus, who brought it to town. The animal was seen in the Diamond Saturday night by Ed Headley and Willis Gaston. Gaston said the horse was owned by Birch, and Headley suspecting something wrong, took the animal to Birch's farm yesterday morning.

When Miller went after the boy he tried to escape, but was soon captured.

He will be given a hearing this evening at 7 o'clock, before Squire Rose.

JERICHO AND MANILA

Gave Doctor John Lloyd Lee a Good Subject.

Doctor John Lloyd Lee at the First Presbyterian church last night preached a powerful sermon, taking the fall of Jericho as his text and discussing the victory at Manila. The strong patriotic utterances which fell from the gentleman's lips found a hearty response in the minds of the large number of persons present, while the tracing of the hand of God through the history of the United States, shaping its destiny and bringing forth the right men at the right moment was splendidly shown.

Professor Reed exchanged pulpits yesterday with Rev. M. E. Chatley, of Lisbon, and that gentleman occupied the pulpit at the Christian church. His sermon in the morning, "Pilate's Words at the Cross," was especially eloquent and interesting.

The jubilee services, commemorating the payment of the debt attached to the Methodist Protestant church, were highly interesting and attracted a large audience. Doctor Westfall, of Beaver Falls, preached in the morning, and Doctor Hastings, of Toronto, delivered an eloquent sermon in the evening. The ceremony of burning the mortgage will take place tonight.

The temperance sermon which Rev. S. B. Salmon preached at the Second M. E. church last night was a splendid arraignment of the liquor traffic.

Reverend Roberts occupied the pulpit at the First M. E. church yesterday, filling the place of Doctor Huston, who is absent on a vacation.

CALLED THE DEPARTMENT,

But the Fire Was Out Before the Boys Arrived.

Saturday evening as Ben Kinney, Charles Smith and Mr. Carmen were passing the house of A. Solomon, in Third street, they noticed a blaze in the room, and breaking in the door proceeded to stamp out the fire, which was confined to the carpet. They also took out two children who were sleeping in the room.

The department was called, but the fire was out when they arrived.

TAKEN TO PALESTINE.

Attorney Mackall Did Not Go to Wooster.

Saturday afternoon A. R. Mackall was not taken to Wooster to see his wife as was intended, owing to the fact that a relative from East Palestine, who was on his bond, came to the city and was not willing to let him go, and Mackall was taken to East Palestine. His time expires next Monday, and it is probable parties in this city will furnish a new bond in order that he may not have to return to the asylum.

BRIGADIER ADDIE

Will Speak at the First U. P. Church Tonight.

Brigadier J. C. Addie, commanding the Salvation Army in Ohio and Kentucky, will be in the city this evening, and will speak of the work of the army at the First U. P. church. The services will begin at 8 o'clock.

Brigadier Addie has been in the army for 15 years, and visited the city almost a year ago, but made no address here.

PRIVATE BUSINESS

Brought Treasurer Cameron to the City Today.

Treasurer Cameron was in the city today on private business. He returned this afternoon. He was accompanied by Samuel Moore, who will visit at the residence of H. A. Keffer.

Mr. Cameron said there was nothing new in politics, but he could not but wonder where the Democrats would get a candidate for congress.

On the River.

No change in the way of a rise in the river has resulted from the heavy rains of yesterday morning. The Ohio continues to fall and the marks at the wharf at noon today registered 4.4 feet.

The Sunday boats, Keystone State, Ben Hur and Kanawha went up, but all were behind time.

The Keystone with the Ben Hur will be down tonight and the Kanawha is due down tomorrow night.

Business at the wharf continues slow and not much freight is being sent south by the boats.

Carey Goes Down Again.

"Mercer seems to have rounded into shape, and when the darkeyed lad from East Liverpool does get down to his last year's form the local cranks will be truly thankful," says Sporting Life.

George Carey has been replaced at first base for Minneapolis by Tetcher.

There was six East Liverpool players with the Wellsville team Saturday.

A Good Week.

Freight shipments Saturday were very good, and during the day 18 cars were loaded and sent from the outbound sheds.

Last week was an unusually good one, and a large amount of business was handled. Eastern and western shipments are increasing, while those to the south are showing a decrease.

Thunderstorms.

Do not imagine that because a heavy thunderstorm is far away to leeward it is not likely to arise and wet you. Even if the wind is blowing right against the cloud it will come your way all the more surely, for thunderstorms always travel against the wind.

The reason for this is that there is invariably a countercurrent of air above the breeze that you feel close to the earth, and this sky high wind blows in the opposite direction to the one which alone you can detect. Thus the tempest seems to work its way right through the wind's eye in a very contrary sort of way.

Fog never does this; neither does ordinary rain—at least very seldom—but snow or sleet some time works its way up wind just as the tempest does. Sheet lightning, by the way, is not a distinctive sort of light, but merely the reflection

WILL GO TO SPAIN

If Camara's Fleet Passes Port Said.

CONFICTING REPORTS TODAY

Some say the Spanish Admiral could obtain no coal, but later dispatches declare he is going through the canal. Blanco has a few troubles of his own. American transports have not reached Manila.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—[Special]—It is officially announced here today that Commodore Watson, commanding the blockading fleet on the northern coast of Cuba, has been ordered to join Admiral Sampson, leaving before sunset.

He will take with him an armored squadron and proceeding to Spain will attack such cities as the board select, and ravage the coast.

The order is brought out by the fact that Spain is practically defenseless, and may be the means of causing Camara's return to Cadiz.

Commodore Watson will take with him a number of cruisers, but at this hour they have not been announced.

Later—it is known now that Commodore Watson's squadron will be made up of the Newark, Iowa, Oregon, Yosemite, Yankee, Dixie and three colliers.

NO COAL.

Admiral Camara Cannot Buy It Port Said.

PORT SAID, June 27.—[Special]—Admiral Camara and his fleet were here this morning and an effort was made to purchase coal in order that the fleet might proceed on its way to Manila.

It is learned upon the highest authority that the admiral could not obtain coal, every request being met with refusal.

GOING TODAY.

What the People of Madrid Think About It.

LONDON, June 27.—[Special]—A special received here this morning from Madrid says that Admiral Camara is provided with everything he needs, and is in readiness to leave for the Philippines today.

The report does not say whether he procured coal at Port Said, but adds that he and his men are well supplied for the voyage.

ANOTHER REPORT.

The Fleet said to be on Its Way to the Red Sea.

LONDON, June 27.—[Special]—The last report to reach here today is that Admiral Camara's fleet is passing through the Suez canal. There is nothing to show that it is authentic, the statement being based on a private dispatch from Port Said.

HAVANA'S POLICE

They Threaten Revolt, and the City Is Frightened.

KEY WEST, June 27.—[Special]—Reliable news reached here from Havana today which says the city is panic stricken because the entire police force threatens to revolt.

The rumor has been in circulation for several weeks that unless the police were given regular rations there would be trouble.

Famine, it is said, is imminent, yet no one is allowed to leave the city.

NO CHANGE.

American Transports Have Not Reached Manila.

MANILA, June 23, by dispatch boat to Hong Kong—[Special]—The situation here is unchanged. No American transports have yet arrived. Admiral Dewey still commands the bay. No reports of fighting between insurgents and Spaniards since last week.

Glass Worker Arrested.

John Doyle, a Steubenville glass worker, was arrested by Officer Grim in Sixth street this afternoon for being drunk. He was taken to jail in the patrol, and will be heard tomorrow morning.

NO TRAINS YESTERDAY

Tons of Earth Covered the Track.

MAILS WENT THE OTHER WAY

One Mass of Dirt Covered the Tracks at the Foot of Third Street, and Another at Neil's Station—The Line Opened at Noon.

The rains descended and the floods came soon after midnight Saturday, and as a result the Cleveland and Pittsburg Railroad company sent no mail trains over this division yesterday.

The slide at Neil station at 12:45 Saturday night was more extensive than was first thought. The work train from Rochester worked until late yesterday afternoon before any trains could effect a passage. The train due in this city at 1:30 yesterday morning went to Cleveland by way of Alliance.

The Wellsville work train was called out to clear the track near the flint mill. Another slide occurred at the same place one week ago. The 5 o'clock train went to Rochester over the Ft. Wayne road. Freight trains were able to go through to Neil station at 8 o'clock yesterday morning.

The Lisbon and Pittsburg trunk lines of the telephone company were badly damaged by the storm yesterday morning. Linemen were at work all of yesterday making needed repairs, and this morning all the lines were working.

Supervisor Hayes stated this morning that every heavy rain would cause the company damage at the point in question, and if something was not done to carry off the great amount of water that came down the alley the loss would mount up into the thousands.

The principal annoyance caused in the city was the absence of the mail. Many persons who each Sunday morning go to the postoffice for the purpose of finding what the midnight train and the early train from the north had brought, were disappointed.

The Jubilee Service.

Tonight a special jubilee service will be held in the Methodist Protestant church in Fifth street. The service is the occasion of the burning of the mortgage that was paid last week by money raised last Easter. A musical program has been arranged and a number of former pastors of the church will be here. Those who are now here and will speak this evening are Rev. W. H. Gladden, of New Brighton; R. B. Whitehead, Braddock; Rev. Hastings, Toronto; and Will Curfman, of Adrian, Michigan.

A Dancing Feat.

A wonderful feat in dancing is recorded from Berlin. At a recent ball a prize of a gold ring was offered to the lady who waltzed the longest without stopping. Twelve couples competed. They began waltzing at 12:30 a. m. and it was 5:45 a. m. before the winner and her partner stopped waltzing. By 2:30 five couples dropped out, and at 5:15 another lady fainted. Two more couples dropped out at 4:45, and at 4:50 only two couples remained on the floor.

THE S. G. HARD CO THE BIG STORE

REPORT IS COMPLETED

The Board of Equalization Finished Its Work.

INCREASE IN NEW BUILDINGS

Is Pronounced, But the Assessors' Books Show a Decrease That Was Not Expected. Details of the Hard Work Now at an End.

The board of equalization have finished their work, and the report will be filed Wednesday with the auditor.

The assessors' books showed the following for taxation: First ward, $102,968; Second ward, $144,970; Third ward, $86,778; Fourth ward, $31,980. This amount was increased by the board $8,205, making a total of $374,901. Last year the assessors' books showed a total of $396,529 and the reason given for the decrease is that many people have taken their money from the banks and invested in real estate.

The corporation this year are valued at $165,137 against $137,600 in 1897. This places the grand total for 1898 at $540,088 against $534,129 in 1897, or a net gain of $5,909.

The best show was made in new buildings, and in 1897 buildings to the value of $32,895 were erected, while this year amounted to $51,020 and were divided as follows:

First ward, $20,045; Second ward, $18,025; Third ward, $6,850; Fourth ward, $6,100.

ONE ARREST.

The Victim Was Released Without a Fine.

Only one arrest was made since Saturday noon, and that was made by Officer Grim early last night.

Grim was walking up the railroad near the culvert by the flint mill when he saw William Beardmore in an intoxicated condition. He was going to the home of his sister, but he was so drunk that he almost fell into the run from the track, a distance of 25 feet. He was taken to jail in the patrol, and after he had sobered up this afternoon the mayor released him without the usual fine in such cases.

CHANGED THE TIME

But the Evening Train From Cleveland Is the Same.

A new schedule on the Cleveland and Pittsburgh road became operative yesterday, but there is one change in the time of the passenger trains. The noon train now reaches here as 12:07 instead of at 12:10.

The schedule is a disappointment to many people in view of the fact that the evening train from Cleveland was not returned to the old time, which made it reach here about two hours earlier.

BROKE WINDOWS IN A CHURCH.

Small Boys Escape a Number of Indignant Members.

Last evening a crowd of small boys were playing in Fifth street when they commenced to throw stones. One of the missiles went through a window of the First Methodist Episcopal church, demolishing it completely.

Several men who were standing in the vestibule of the building gave chase to the boys, but they eluded capture. If they are caught it will no doubt go hard with them.

WARD TALKED.

He Was After the Bishops of the Methodist Church.

Holiness Ward stood in the Diamond last evening and talked as he knows only how to talk. He ridiculed the bishops of the Methodist church, and said that during the civil war there were only three loyal bishops in the entire country.

A number of people listening to him became so disgusted with his remarks that they left the neighborhood.

STILL TALKING.

Negotiations Not Off Between the Specialty and East End.

The negotiations between the East End people and the Specialty Glass company are still pending.

The East End parties made a proposition to the Specialty which was rejected, and a counter proposition made which the land company rejected. The matter now stands at that point, but a meeting will be held in the near future to see if the parties can not agree on terms.

Fourth of July Excursions.

NOW A BILLION DOLLAR NAVY.

Senator Hansbrough's Plan For Holding and Guarding Our Philippine Interests.

"Events of the past few weeks indicate that the policy of the government concerning the extension of its territorial lines is about to undergo a radical change," said Senator H. C. Hansbrough of North Dakota recently. "The time has come when the United States must keep pace with other nations of the world in the matter of acquiring additional territory. We are a great and growing people and cannot afford to remain in isolation as we have done in the past century. New issues have sprung out of the present war, and we must be prepared to meet them."

"The retention of the Philippine islands seems to me to be established beyond doubt. We have made every preparation for holding the islands and establishing a form of government over them. This means that we must build a great navy for their protection. That this newly acquired territory will be of great advantage to us in years to come I doubt not. Our commercial interests in the east make it an imperative necessity that we should have coaling stations where our merchantmen can find refuge in time of peace and where our warships may go for shelter in time of war. The scheme to build a new $1,000,000,-000 navy has my hearty approval. We have reached a stage in the onward march of events where it is necessary we should have a navy second to none in the world."—New York World.

STRATEGIC SUGGESTIONS.

Leander J. McCormick Gives the War Department Some Valuable Hints.

Leander J. McCormick of Chicago is so much interested in the war with Spain that he follows closely every strategic movement made by the army and navy and from time to time sends suggestions to the authorities in Washington. His latest suggestion, if carried out, would make Aguinaldo, the Philippine insurgent, a general in the American army. After discussing the subject with several friends the other day Mr. McCormick sent the following telegram to Secretary Alger at Washington:

CHICAGO, June 14.—Would suggest making Aguinaldo general in the American army, thus avoiding future complications at Manila.

LEANDER J. MCCORMICK.

According to reports from the war department, Secretary Alger considers the suggestion a good one, but because of established laws which prevent an alien from holding military or civil office in the United States he cannot apply it. It is possible Mr. McCormick had something to do with the sinking of the Merrimac in the entrance to Santiago harbor. On May 25 he sent the following telegram to John D. Long, secretary of the navy:

Sink a hulk in the channel entrance to Santiago harbor and thus keep the Spanish fleet in or out.

Ten days later the news came of Hobson's brave deed. Whether it was the result of Mr. McCormick's "tip" or not may never be made known.—Chicago Tribune.

PLANS FOR OUR PRISONERS.

Secretary Alger Thinking of Confining Captured Spaniards at Atlanta.

The question of the disposition of Spanish prisoners of war has not been decided fully, but it has been almost decided to establish a prison at Atlanta. If the 15,000 or more Spaniards are captured at Santiago, they will probably be brought to the United States without delay, although there are many reasons why it would be more convenient to have them remain in Cuba. The fear that they might fare badly at the hands of the Cubans who will be left in charge of Santiago after General Shafter's expedition goes to Porto Rico is the main objection to leaving captive troops at the places where they may be taken.

It will take a great many transports to bring 15,000 prisoners to the United States, and to transport them thence by train to the place of imprisonment, but the military authorities have decided that, all things considered, better provision for captives can be made if they are on United States soil. General Shafter's troops have provisions for six months, so that after Santiago falls there will be enough and to spare to feed victors and vanquishers for a long time, thus giving the war department plenty of opportunity to engage vessels to bring the prisoners to the United States and to erect the necessary buildings at the place which Secretary Alger has in view for the prison.—New York Sun.

"Lest We Forget."

Unless we are ready to sacrifice our splendid independence and strong moral influence among the nations let us put behind us the temptation which assails us in the orient. We might better set our faces resolutely toward the accomplishment of the one purpose with which we took up arms and let the problem of the Philippines work itself out as time, justice and duty shall determine.—Detroit Free Press.

Our Lady of the Snows Melts.

The mayor of Portland, Me., has asked four companies of Canadian militia to assist in celebrating the Fourth of July, and the invitation has been accepted. These family parties will add to the interest of the day.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

It should be a deep-rooted principle of all union workmen and union sympathizers, and particularly those members of the different organizations of East Liverpool, to buy nothing but Union Label goods, in preference to all others. # COLONEL DIDN'T KNOW

When the Regiment Would Break Camp.

WAS A DAY OF DISAPPOINTMENT

Everybody Was Ready to Go When the Order to March Would Come, but It Did Not Come—A Few Words on Fakes. Lieutenant Hall's Dash.

CAMP ALGER, June 24.—[Special]—Today has been one of expectancy and disappointment.

Late last night orders were issued for the Eighth regiment to move at 4 o'clock today for Newport News. Preparations at once began; blankets were rolled, haversacks packed and everything that was considered unessential placed in boxes and sent home. The quartermaster's department was working a full force completing the equipment, after which all supplies remaining were boxed up. The commissary made requisition for three days' travel rations, and closed shop. Mess furniture was ready for shipment, and numerous wagons were on the grounds for hauling. About noon rumors began to float that the order had been countermanded, but none of the officers could verify the report, and the work of getting ready was continued.

Approaching Colonel Hard, I asked, "Do we move today?" The answer came, "No sir, we don't move today."

This information was quickly communicated to the boys, and then long faces were in order. The soldiers were mad—hopping mad, and the next order to move will not be met with such alacrity.

Yesterday the Sixth Illinois were "rubbered" in the same manner, and no doubt but what the Sixth Massachusetts will get a similar order before the day is over. Whether these orders are issued for practice or are bona fide it is impossible to ascertain, and when we will go to the front is beyond conjecture. We are ready, being fully equipped, and an hour's notice could see us on the march.

In connection with this order it was decided to cut the companies down to 83 men each, and that 20 of the "rookies" from each company should be assigned to other regiments. When we are aboard cars and the conductor gives the signal to start, we will give rumors credence, and not before. Thinking that we were being subjected to the same uncertainties as heretofore, I did not wire you, knowing that your readers are as tired of rumors as we are. When I telegraph another order to move you can rely on it.

Company E participated in its first sham battle today and was on the victorious side. Two battalions were given 10 rounds of blank ammunition for each man and ordered into the woods opposite camp for a contest. The troops started in at different points, and owing to the density of the woods it was some time before they met, and when they did there was volley after volley of musketry that could be heard for miles.

Lieutenant Hall, in command of Company E, made the brilliant move of the day. Noticing a Canton company which had become detached from its battalion, he at once deployed a skirmish line and closed in with the command "fire at will." The Cantonians were taken by surprise and in less time than it takes to note it, they found themselves hemmed in and surrendered without firing a shot.

A corporal of the Sixth Illinois died yesterday from an attack of measles, which developed into pneumonia.

All the boys are well, and look happy forward to the day when they will be lined up before Spain's troops.

TRUMP.

New People In Town.

Since Saturday evening four moving were handled at the freight depot and two were handled at the wharfboat.

The effects of James Kaufman arrived on the Virginia from Pittsburgh, and those of George Milhaone came up the river from Hockingsport on the Kanawha.

At the freight depot the effects of James Pickering arrived from Trenton, and those belonging to Harry Early came in from Kokomo. The only moving sent out was that of H. G. Tissot, who went to Cleveland.

Preparing For Camp.

The various company clubs are making preparations for their annual outings.

The Athletic club will leave next week for Mackinac, while the Rod and Gun club will go to Marietta. The Sons of Veterans, as usual, will camp at Shelton's Grove.

THE ROUGH RIDERS' LIFE.

Harvard Man Starts a Fund to Buy Hammocks and Mosquito Netting For Them.

The First United States Volunteer cavalry, better known as Roosevelt's rough riders, was recruited from all parts of the Union, and, as it is not a state organization in any sense, it cannot draw material assistance from any of the volunteer aid associations, which are doing much to make our other citizen soldiers as comfortable as the exigencies of camp life will permit. Mr. William Tudor, a Harvard '71 man, has started a fund in Boston to buy hammocks and mosquito netting, two necessities of life in Cuba, for the rough riders, and it is believed that nearly enough money for this purpose can be raised by the friends of the Harvard men who are in this regiment. It was probably due to the fact that Lieutenant Colonel Roosevelt is a Harvard man that so many recruits were obtained from that university. A man who recently joined the regiment from New York and who lived in New York at the best clubs and restaurants, in a letter recently received, said that he enjoyed the life immensely, but that his appetite had increased in inverse proportion to the quantity of rations.

"I paid $5 for a beefsteak recently," he wrote from the transport at Tampa where he was quartered, "and I was glad to get it at any price. I don't believe that any such collection of men was ever gathered in one regiment before, and the experience of serving in it is one that every eastern man will long remember. With three genuine cowboys I ran the guard several night ago, and, although I am a law abiding citizen, I assisted in holding up a saloon for beer. My conscience didn't bother me because the saloon keeper himself was a robber."

THE VESUVIUS' SHOTS.

Spaniards Say the Americans Are Beginning to Hurl Earthquakes.

When Sylvester Scovel and Stephen Crane, with that thirst for adventure which makes them knight errants of journalism, landed on the coast of Cuba westward of Santiago, I landed at General Castillo's camp, 20 miles eastward.

We have 500 Cubans here, well armed, but poorly clad, with a week's provisions and only three horses in the camp. The men drill every morning. Two hundred navy rifles have been supplied to them by Admiral Sampson, which they value more highly than anything that could be given to them. General Castillo is highly intelligent and quite a gentleman. He hopes the American army will land slightly westward of his camp, which he considers the most desirable place. He has urged this on Admiral Sampson.

Two prisoners were brought into camp the other day. They were captured going with letters from Santiago to Guantanamo. They report that there is absolutely no flour left in Santiago. The people there are making bread out of rice. Other provisions also are very scarce. They graphically described the terrific effect of a shot fired from the Vesuvius. It struck Cayo Smith with appalling force. It was like an earthquake or some terrible volcanic explosion. The roof of a building and a part of a battery were simply wiped totally away, leaving no trace of fragments, while the whole countryside felt the concussion of the awful shock. The Spaniards say the Americans are beginning to hurl earthquakes.

General Castillo thinks that Santiago should be captured within ten days from the landing of the American troops, for which the present fine weather is extremely favorable. The prisoners confirm the news of the destructive effect of the last bombardment on the fortifications and the Reina Mercedes.—George Lynch in New York World.

NICARAGUA CANAL.

Mr. Joseph Nimmo on Its Use in Reaching Manila.

As to the point that the Nicaragua canal, if now completed, would be of great use in reaching Manila, Mr. Joseph Nimmo shows in a recent letter that it is 11,565 miles from New York to Manila via the Suez canal and 11,746 miles via the Nicaragua canal. From Manila to London it is 9,600 miles via the Suez canal and 14,680 miles via the Nicaragua canal. The utility of the latter is not therefore so clear. The fact that the Nicaragua canal involves 220 feet of lockage and tolls—a serious impediment for large vessels—adds in effect 2,000 miles to the distance via the Nicaragua canal from New York to Manila.

For military purposes the canal would be useless unless we protect it from damage by large fleets at both ends and with soldiers distributed all along its length. For trade it is not much needed, in view of the many lines of railway we have crossing from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Sailing vessels could not reach it for want of wind, and but 300,000 tons of steam tonnage, Mr. Nimmo says, would be likely to use it. The Suez canal, being at the sea level, will be a successful competitor.—Baltimore Sun.

TRADE IN FIREWORKS

MANUFACTURERS READY FOR THE NOISIEST FOURTH ON RECORD.

Conservative Dealers Say the Demand Is Much Larger Than In Any Previous Year—Portraits In Fire of Dewey and Hobson—Rockets For the Government.

The recent rush to the New York bureau of combustibles to obtain permits to sell fireworks and explosives calls attention to another of the effects upon trade and popular life of the present state of war. Two hundred men and women waited from as early as 7 o'clock until a quarter of 9 before the door of the building, and when it was opened they almost fell over each other in their eagerness to reach the office of the inspector. One hundred permits were issued in the first hour, and hundreds of applicants were still expectant. Some such scene is witnessed each year, but the number of petitioners and their anxiety surpassed all previous manifestations. The reason is that the extreme pitch of patriotic enthusiasm to which victorious war has wrought people craves on the coming Fourth and on any other plausible occasion expression in an unwonted roar and blaze of fireworks.

All the factories, all the wholesaling, jobbing and retailing houses engaged in the pyrotechnical business are crammed with all the standard means and every conceivable new device of making a flash and a noise. Invention has been taxed and even goaded on, but it must be confessed with slight results in the production of novelties. The profession of "original creations" is indeed not wanting, but, as an extremely candid dealer remarked, "There is a vast amount of humbug in this business, as in any other business that people in general don't understand, and so we put a blue paper around one explosive and call it one thing and a red paper around the same explosive and call it another, and so on."

After all, however, the main thing has been quantity and quality rather than design, and, given the excellent prospects and the intruding orders, there has been no difficulty in providing what, unless the most sanguine expectation should prove to fall below the reality, will be ample to meet even the unexampled demand. This demand conservative dealers estimate at certainly not less than 25 per cent more than in any previous year within the recollection of the oldest of them.

The things having the strongest touch of newness will be those "set pieces" illustrating the ships, the achievements and the heroes of the navy in the conflict with Spain. The pictorial side of pyrotechnics has been developed gradually to really wonderful possibilities of depicting scenes and persons and is becoming more and more the chief interest of public displays on a large scale. Of course the merit of these pictures lies more in the degree of their triumph over the difficulties of the medium than in the actual artistic result achieved. An approximation is a grand success. A ship, however, does not require an explanatory legend beneath it, and portraiture may be said to have gone a step further than in the daily newspapers, the persons represented being commonly recognizable. So there are going to be numberless delineations in fire of Admiral Dewey's glorious victory at Manila—"using the same old things we've used for years," interjected the cynical dealer already quoted;

"for instance, the same outlines, frames and devices with which we described the bombardment of Alexandria, with perhaps a few vessels turned about to represent the Spanish fleet, but Alexandria will do for Manila and Arab Bey's fortifications for Cavite." As for the admiral, his countenance on a scale elevated from the merely heroic to the colossal will be limned in fire in a thousand places in the land on the most resounding Fourth experienced since the civil war.

Dewey's portraits are and long have been completed and laid abundantly in stock, and now the manufacturers are rushing work on thousands of fiery counterfeit presentations of the immortal young hero of the Merrimac. Hobson's photographs were not numerous, and, for fear of successful competition through superior accuracy, the fire artists have been conscientious about getting a correct likeness before setting to work. This has caused some delay and much chafing, but the lack has been rapidly supplied through the fecundity of photographers in copying copies of the few procurable photographs, and at last all the pyrotechnic portraitists are as busy as they can be over a piece which promises to be the most popular and profitable in their whole catalogue.

It is probable, from the avidity with which the newest hero is snapped up, that Cadet Powell and Ensign Palmer will be added to the galaxy of those to be depicted in lines of living light. While Dewey and Hobson are the pieces de resistance, others are not forgotten; Sampson and Schley, "Fighting Bob" Evans, and the first slain, Ensign Bagley, come in for a large share of coruscation and glory, as do the prominent chiefs of the army.

In addition to visualizing in flame Manila, San Juan and Santiago the manufacturers are doing a large quantity of work especially for the government. This comprises enemy rockets for signal purposes on land and sea, but mainly on the fleet. "In making these," said one of the manufacturers, "we have to give extreme care to the quality, for it would never do to have the signals fail at what might be a critical moment. The government is so appreciative of this fact that we can practically get out own price, but there is no chance to deceive and palm off anything less than the best, both in material and workmanship, for the navy department has experts who thoroughly understand the whole business and are relentless in inspection." —New York Post.

TROOPS TO MOVE

Significant Orders Received at Chickamauga.

15 REGIMENTS MAY GO.

Commanded to Prepare For Active Field Service.

EXPECT TO GO TO TAMPA.

That the Order Means an Almost Immediate Movement Is Signified by the Rush of Preparations—Springfield Rifles and Other Equipments Sufficient to Arm Twenty Regiments Delivered to the Various Regiments For Which They Were Intended—Money and Supplies Received by the Branch at Chickamauga of the National Relief Committee—Check Received From Railway Master Mechanics' Association.

CHICKAMAUGA, June 27.—It is no longer a question that a large force of troops are about to be ordered from Camp Thomas to the front. An order was issued by command of Major General Brooke yesterday, which virtually amounts to an order for the movement of 15 regiments to Cuba.

In accordance with the order the first division of the First corps and two brigades of the second division of the same corps will form an expeditionary force and are ordered to be immediately prepared and equipped for active field service. The following brigades are included in this order.

First brigade, commanded by General Earnest and composed of the Eighth Massachusetts, Third Wisconsin and Fifth Illinois.

Second brigade, commanded by General Sanger and composed of the Fourth Ohio, Third Illinois and the Fourth Pennsylvania.

Third brigade, commanded by General Wiley and composed of the Sixteenth Pennsylvania, Second Wisconsin and First New Hampshire.

Second division, first corps, first brigade, commanded by Colonel Gardner and composed of the Thirty-first Michigan, One hundred and Sixtieth Indiana and First Georgia.

Second brigade, commanded by General McKee and composed of the First West Virginia, One Hundred and Fifty-eighth Indiana and Twelfth New York.

The order does not specify just when these troops will go or to what point they will be sent for embarkation, but it is understood that they will go to Tampa for direct departure for Cuba.

That the order means an almost immediate move was signified by the general rush yesterday afternoon. The ordnance department received large stores, including Springfield rifles and other equipments sufficient to complete the fitting out of 20 regiments. As soon as these stores arrived they were rushed to the various regiments for which they were intended.

The local branch of the national relief committee is in receipt of a check from President R. Quaile of the American Railway Master Mechanics' association for $1,000 to be applied to the relief of the sick in the hospitals of Camp Thomas. The local society is also in receipt of 6,000 pounds of supplies and delicacies for the sick sent by the Philadelphia branch of the commission.
